

Expert Says Cheating Won't Advance Soviet

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department's top scientist testified today the Soviets could not gain any substantial advantage under the limited nuclear test ban treaty even if they "cheat to the maximum extent possible."

Dr. Harold Brown, defense director of research and engineering, added that if the treaty is fully observed U.S. nuclear superiority over the Russians actually will improve.

Brown took issue with the views expressed Tuesday by Dr. Edward Teller, Air Force nuclear consultant, who said ratification of the treaty would be "a dreadful and tragic mistake."

Brown differed with Teller's estimate that the Soviet Union is ahead of the United States in the development of an antimissile defense.

He testified that from long investigations he has made with associates the "best present judgment is that our ABM (antiballistic missile) development efforts are comparable in magnitude and success with those of the Soviets."

He added that any deployed defense system the Soviets are likely to have now or in the near future "does not appear to be as effective, almost certainly not more effective than the Nike-Zeus" which the United States decided not to deploy because "its effectiveness was inadequate against U.S. penetration aids."

He said penetration aids now under development "will be effective against much more sophisticated systems."

Brown testified at a public session of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee at which members of the Senate Armed Services and the Joint Atomic Energy committees sat in. This is the same forum before which Teller delivered his blast at the treaty.

President Kennedy waded into the argument Tuesday at his news conference.

The President: "Sharply denied a Teller charge that the administration curtailed atmospheric tests last year for political reasons."

—Disclosed that preparations for U.S. Pacific tests are already under way as a precaution to Soviet violation of the treaty.

On these points Kennedy said:

1. After the Soviets broke the three-year test moratorium in 1961, the United States set off 36 atomic explosions in the air and 97 underground. Although atmospheric shots were held to a minimum, because of the hazard from radioactive fallout, several more were fired than originally planned.

2. In response to senatorial demands, the administration is sending the foreign relations and armed services committees a letter detailing plans for Kennedy's four promised safeguards against any treaty violation. These are continued nuclear laboratory work, readiness to resume atmospheric testing, a vigorous series of underground tests and improvement in methods of detecting sneak tests.

News of World in Brief

CLEVELAND (AP)—Two men were under arrest today in connection with a counterfeiting ring that police said flooded the city with phony Cleveland Transit System passes and tickets for nearly a year.

Detective Sgt. Paul Robinson said the phony 20-cent tickets circulated by the ring appeared in CTS fare boxes at the rate of $100 a day.

Robinson said forgery charges will be filed against Robert F. Farnham, 33, a Cleveland printer, and Richard Ivey, 30, who is accused of obtaining the materials and then distributing them.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Three state liquor department examiners discharged earlier in the year by State Auditor Roger W. Tracy have been cleared of charges against them and restored to their jobs.

The trio also receives back pay totaling about $5,100.

The three, James A. Clark, Junction City; Adrian R. Robinson, New Philadelphia, and Lloyd T. Lindsley, Zanesville, appealed to the state Personnel Board of Review from the removal charges which were effective May 23.

Tracy's office had charged them with incompetency, inefficiency and neglect of duty for alleged failure to detect an $8,000 shortage covering about two years in a liquor agency in Dillonvale.

CHICAGO (AP)—U. S. District Court Judge Bernard M. Decker issued a temporary restraining order today prohibiting a walk-out of United Airlines maintenance employees that threatened to disrupt operations of the airline.

The judge issued the order after attorneys for the airline told the court that the walkout, which began in New York shortly after midnight and spread to other United terminals across the nation, would halt operations on Thursday unless it was stopped.

The order remains in effect until 11 p.m. CDT, Aug. 30.

Trapped Miners Try To Aid Pal

HAZLETON, Pa. (AP)—Two trapped miners, using tools and nails lowered 331 feet underground through a six-inch lifeline hole, worked doggedly today in efforts to reach a separated and weakened companion who re-established contact with them after nearly 40 hours.

The two men, who have been receiving food and other supplies through the lifeline hole, appeared at the moment to be the big hope for Louis Bova, 42, of Pattersonville, who is separated from them by a wall of debris along a gangway where they fled after the main mine shaft walls collapsed eight days ago.

At the same time, authorities prepared to drill a new escape hole through which they eventually hope to bring the men to the surface.

Drilling of a 12-inch hole, which was meant to be reamed to 24 inches in diameter, was abandoned early today at a depth of 193 feet because it was cracking the roof above the miners and authorities feared another cave-in.

Expert drilling crews had worked 22 hours before it was decided to halt the operation on the advice of two of the trapped men, David Fellin, 58, of Shepton, and Henry Throne, 28, of Hazleton who have been directing rescue operations through a microphone lowered down their lifeline hole. Fellin and Throne reported the drilling, apparently too close to them, was cracking the roof.

Rescuers apparently were unable to pierce a lifeline hole to Bova, who has been without food since the cave-in Aug. 13. In a second attempt Tuesday night they were successful in drilling a twin six-inch shaft estimated to

Iraq, Syria Join Forces

Anti-Israel Threats Hurdled by 2 Nations

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—Iraq mobilized its army and air force on standby alert today and announced it was placing its armed forces under the command of the Syrian National Revolutionary Council following air and ground clashes between Syria and Israel.

Both Damascus and Baghdad radios canceled regular programs and whipped Syria and Iraq into a state of excitement with martial music, messages of support and threats against Israel.

Baghdad Radio declared Iraq's ruling National Revolutionary Council is "prepared to support Syria immediately with all military means and moral resources."

A council statement said the entire armed forces were in a state of alert and were being placed under the Syrian high command.

The Iraqi defense minister, Gen. Saleh Mahdi Ammash, announced all airports west of the Euphrates River were on standby alert, all planes were ordered to be ready to take off on 30 minutes notice, and all army units west of the Euphrates were prepared to move within half an hour.

The moves came less than 24 hours after Syria announced an armed clash with 15 Israeli armored cars on the 70-mile armistice line. Both Syria and Israel announced an air battle between Syrian MIG17 fighter planes and Israeli Mirages.

Each nation claimed its fighters shot down one of the other's planes. Each accused the other of violating its air space.

Israel filed a complaint against Syria with the U.N. Security Council. The council was expected to meet in New York Friday or early next week.

Another $84,000 Of Loot Recovered

LONDON (AP)—British police have recovered another 30,000 pounds ($84,000) of the great train robbery loot. It was found in an abandoned auto trailer.

Police, announcing the discovery, intensified a search for the man and woman, with a baby, who left the trailer parked last week at a trailer camp near Dorchester, Surrey.

The trailer cash brought to 273,107 pounds ($764,699) the total so far recovered of the 2.6 million pounds ($7,280,000) taken by the gang that robbed the Glasgow-London mail train.

Firemen Submit Pay Hike Request

A letter requesting a salary increase for members of the Circleville Fire Department was submitted last night to City Council.

The communication, signed by Fire Chief Bernard Wolfe, cited the rising cost of living and the need for a pay scale to meet this situation. It asked that the salary hike request be referred to the proper Council committee for consideration.

The letter was received and placed on file by Council vote. Indications are the request will now come under study of the finance and safety committees.

Additional business coming before the solons included action on eight ordinances and two resolutions. All were approved.

ONE OF the resolutions confirmed the issuance and sale of bonds for the City View sanitary sewer system, amounting to $21,125. Accepted was a bid by the J. A. White Co. of Cincinnati. The interest rate was listed at 3 percent and the premium at $17.

The second resolution adopted concerned acceptance of a report submitted by an equalizing board that was formed to hear assessment objections on Circleville Sewer District No. 2 (see story on page 10).

The eight ordinances, all gaining passage, were appropriation of money measures. They were:

Appropriation of $125 to be credited to the care of cemetery account for maintenance of the cemetery section set aside for burial of indigent persons.

Transfer of $50,000 from surplus funds of the waterworks operating fund to the major waterworks improvement fund. This money will be used to pay contractor estimates coming due relative to the city's waterworks improvement project by enacting the transfer, the city will not be forced to draw on approved project funds that were invested during the interim period of waterworks construction.

Appropriation of $10,000 from unappropriated monies of the street construction, maintenance, and repair fund to be credited to the major street reconstruction account, plus the appropriation of $4,000 from the same fund to be credited to the materials account of the street fund. This measure is designed to increase street reconstruction here, especially while weather is favorable.

Appropriation of $300 from the general fund to be credited to the fire department incidentals and bedding account.

Appropriation of $100 from the general fund to be credited to the parking meter incidentals and supplies account.

Appropriation of $360 from the general fund to be credited to the auditor's stationery and supplies account.

Two ordinances placed on their passage concerned appropriations for extra clerk hire and purchase of office equipment for Circleville Municipal Court (see story on page 18).

What Does A Chef Serve Fellow Chefs?

CLEVELAND (AP)—What does a chef serve when his guests are 200 of the country's top chefs?

That was the problem faced Tuesday night by Erwin Buttiker, executive chef at Hotel Sheraton-Cleveland. The chefs dinner was a combined meeting of the American Culinary Association and the American Institute of Chefs.

This was the menu:

Appetizers — Beluga caviar, smoked salmon, back fin crab meat with remoulade sauce and assorted canapés. Soup — essence of tomato madrilene. Main course — Sautéed breast of capon, demi glace and veloute, Belgian baby carrots, Parisienne potatoes, Kentucky bibb lettuce salad and mimosas with vinaigrette dressing. Dessert — Kirchwasser torte, a pastry with liqueur and layers of flaky crust.

Castro Deploys Guns To Meet Hit-Run Stabs

HAVANA (AP)—Tanks, anti-aircraft guns and troops are deploying along Cuba's sparsely defended north coast to guard against stepped-up hit-and-run attacks by anti-Castro raiders.

Prime Minister Fidel Castro's government said Tuesday it is acting to assure Cuba's defense.

The government charged that Monday's attack by two small boats on a metal plant in western Cuba proved the existence of a new plan of aggression against Cuba.

Suicide Ruled In Death by Asphyxiation

A 43-year-old man was found dead in his car at 9:25 a. m. today at a roadside park just south of Harrisburg on Route 62.

Dr. F. W. Anderson, acting coroner, ruled the death a suicide.

According to Pickaway County Sheriff Walton W. Spangler, the motorist had parked the car at the park and inserted two sections of garden hose into the exhaust system.

Hoses were run through the trunk of the car, all cracks were sealed shut and the engine was started.

Sheriff Spangler withheld the name of the man pending notification of the next of kin. Papers found on the dead man listed both Canton and Akron addresses.

Although exact time of death was not known the coroner said he had apparently been dead for several hours.

37 Cuban Refugees Aided by Coast Guard

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Thirty-seven Cuban refugees jammed onto a 26-foot motor sailboat were taken aboard a Coast Guard cutter southeast of Anguilla Cay in the Bahamas on Tuesday. They will be taken to Key West, Fla.

Coast Guard officers said a Navy patrol plane spotted the refugee boat and the 165-foot cutter Nemesis, on patrol in the area, was sent to pick up the 10 men, 13 women and 14 children aboard. The refugees' boat was taken in tow.

JFK Asks Foreign Aid Critics Which Programs To Be Killed

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has put in a strong plug for his foreign aid program, timed for the opening of House debate on the big measure.

"However tired we may get of this program, our adversaries are not tired. I don't think this country is tired and the cause of freedom should certainly not be fatigued," he told a news conference Tuesday, only hours after the $4.1-billion authorization bill reached the House floor.

Asking for full House support of the bill, Kennedy said: "No party or group should call for a dynamic foreign policy and then seek to cripple this program."

"One wonders which concrete actions critics would like to stop," he said. "Should we scrap the Alliance for Progress, which is our best answer to the threat of communism in this hemisphere? Should we deny help to India, the largest free power in Asia, as she seeks to strengthen herself against Communist China? Do we wish to disarm our joint defenses in Korea, Taiwan, Pakistan, Iran, Turkey and Greece, countries along the very rim of Communist power?"

"This is not the time to slacken our efforts," Kennedy said.

Kennedy's words drew an echo in the house from Rep. Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa., chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

"Now is not the time to scrap the entire program. It would mean our entire foreign policy would have to be revised and our military policy completely reorganized," said Morgan, who is guiding the measure through the House.

The bill may reach the amendment stage late today.

Rep. E. Ross Adair, R-Ind., leader of the GOP opponents on the committee, served notice that his forces will try to slice more from the military assistance portion of the bill and the President's contingency fund. The committee has cut a total of $200 million from these two categories.

The action represents a direct violation by the Vietnamese government of assurances that it was pursuing a policy of reconciliation with the Buddhists.

"The United States deplores repressive actions of this nature," High U.S. authorities in Washington said, however, that American aid for the war against the Communists would continue.

A proclamation broadcast by Saigon Radio said Diem's government had adopted an "attitude of extreme conciliation" toward the Buddhists, "but the government's efforts have not met with a similar attitude."

The president blamed "a few (Buddhists) who indulge in political speculation, exploit religion, and take advantage of the desire for extreme conciliation of the government to multiply illegal acts with the aim of stirring up disturbances to sabotage that policy, prevent the application of the law, damage the prestige of Buddhism, thereby only benefitting communism."

Diem ordered the army to take "all necessary measures to restore security and public order, so that the state may be protected, communism defeated, freedom secured and democracy achieved."

Single Fatality Follows Accident

MCARTHUR, Ohio (AP)—One accident which followed another caused the death Thursday night of Howard C. (Jack) Bobo, 66, of Athens, retired Athens division manager of the Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co.

Bobo, who has a farm in Vinton County, was driving on a town ship gravel road when his car left the road and went into a ditch.

He went to a nearby resident, Leonard McVey, to ask help with a tractor. After the tractor had pulled the car part way back on the road, it rolled backward, striking Bobo and killing him.

A VOTING machine, placed in the Pickaway County Board of Elections office for display, is offering much amusement to visitors at the office in addition to board employees. Many have experimented with the machine using sample ballots supplied by the device's manufacturing firm.

According to the board clerk, similar voting machines have been placed in other county offices by the firm on a trial basis, but not for official use.

VOTER registration for both the special election on Sept. 24 and the November general election will close Sept. 13. The elections board office in the courthouse will remain open until 9 p. m. on the final day for "last minute" voters who have to make official changes before they are eligible to vote in either election.

Expert Says Cheating Won't Advance Soviet

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department's top scientist testified today the Soviets could not gain any substantial advantage under the limited nuclear test ban treaty even if they "cheat to the maximum extent possible."

Dr. Harold Brown, defense director of research and engineering, added that if the treaty is fully observed U.S. nuclear superiority over the Russians actually will improve.

Brown took issue with the views expressed Tuesday by Dr.
Edward Teller, Air Force nuclear consultant, who said ratification of the treaty would be "a dreadful and tragic mistake."

Brown differed with Teller's estimate that the Soviet Union is ahead of the United States in the development of an antimissile defense.

He testified that from long investigations he has made with associates the "best present judgment is that our ABM (antiballistic missile) development efforts are comparable in magnitude and success with those of the Soviets."

He added that any deployed defense system the Soviets are likely to have now or in the near future "does not appear to be as effective, almost certainly not more effective than the Nike-Zeus" which the United States decided not to deploy because "its effectiveness was inadequate against U.S. penetration aids."

He said penetration aids now under development "will be effective against much more sophisticated systems."

Brown testified at a public session of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee at which members of the Senate Armed Services and the Joint Atomic Energy committees sat in. This is the same forum before which Teller delivered his blast at the treaty.

President Kennedy waded into the argument Tuesday at his news conference.

The President:
—Sharply denied a Teller charge that the administration curtailed atmospheric tests last year for political reasons.

—Disclosed that preparations for U.S. Pacific tests are already under way as a precaution to Soviet violation of the treaty.

—Disputed a central Teller contention—that the Soviet Union is ahead in the antimissile race and that the treaty would cement the Soviet lead.

On these points Kennedy said:
1. After the Soviets broke the three-year test moratorium in 1961, the United States set off 36 atomic explosions in the air and 97 underground. Although atmospheric shots were held to a minimum, because of the hazard from radioactive fallout, several more were fired than originally planned.

2. In response to senatorial demands, the administration is sending the foreign relations and armed services committees a letter detailing plans for Kennedy's four promised safeguards against any treaty violation. These are
work, readiness to resume atmospheric testing, a vigorous series of underground tests and improvement in methods of detecting sneak tests.

3. Secretary of Defense Robert
S. McNamara already has given the most specific and clear answer possible on the antimissile missile —that the Soviet Union is not ahead in this field and U.S. development of this defense weapon does not hinge on atmospheric tests.

"A good many other scientists with comparable experience," including Nobel Prize winners, dispute Teller's views, Kennedy said.

Teller, Hungarian-born University of California physicist and Air Force adviser, testified that he favored a limited test ban but changed his mind after becoming convinced of Soviet progress toward developing an antimissile defense.

He said the Soviet Union is ahead of the United States in developing a missile killer and in its civil defense system, and Premier Khrushchev wants the test ban to prevent the United States from acquiring the know-how he has.

And while the United States can do much antimissile improvement with underground testing, he said,
"whatever we develop will be uncertain and imperfect, without atmospheric testing."

Senate ratification of the treaty, he concluded, would be "a tragic and dreadful mistake" which could destroy the United States because the treaty is "not a step for peace but rather a step away from safety, possibly a step toward war."

Gen. David M. Shoup, the Marine Corps commandant, told a news conference in Los Angeles on Tuesday that the pact is "one drop of water on this fuse which is burning toward a nuclear holocaust."

A WEARY WAIT — Clyde Machamer, president of the Independent Miners Assn., catches a brief rest as rescue workers continue drilling at full speed to rescue three miners trapped near Shepton, Pa.

Trapped Miners Try To Aid Pal

HAZLETON, Pa. (AP)—Two trapped miners, using tools and nails lowered 331 feet underground through a six-inch lifeline hole, worked doggedly today in efforts to reach a separated and weakened companion who re-established contact with them after nearly 40 hours.

The two men, who have been receiving food and other supplies through the lifeline hole, appeared at the moment to be the big hope for Louis Bova, 42, of Pattersonville, who is separated from them by a wall of debris along a gangway where they fled after the main mine shaft walls collapsed eight days ago.

At the same time, authorities prepared to drill a new escape hole through which they eventually hope to bring the men to the surface.

Drilling of a 12-inch hole, which was meant to be reamed to 24 inches in diameter, was abandoned early today at a depth of 193 feet because it was cracking the roof above the miners and authorities feared another cave-in.

Expert drilling crews had worked 22 hours before it was decided to halt the operation on the advice of two of the trapped men, David Fellin, 58, of Shepton, and Henry Throne, 28, of Hazleton, who have been directing rescue operations through a microphone lowered down their lifeline hole.

Fellin and Throne reported the drilling, apparently too close to them, was cracking the roof.

Rescuers apparently were unable to pierce a lifeline hole to Bova, who has been without food since the cave-in Aug. 13. In a second attempt Tuesday night they were successful in drilling a twin six-inch shaft estimated to

Anti-Israel Threats Hurled by 2 Nations

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—Iraq mobilized its army and air force on standby alert today and announced it was placing its armed forces under the command of the Syrian National Revolutionary Council following air and ground clashes between Syria and Israel.

Both Damascus and Baghdad radio canceled regular programs and whipped Syria and Iraq into a state of excitement with martial music, messages of support and threats against Israel.

Baghdad Radio declared Iraq's ruling National Revolutionary Council is "prepared to support Syria immediately with all military means and moral resources."

A council statement said the entire armed forces were in a state of alert and were being placed under the Syrian high command.

The Iraqi defense minister, Gen.
Salem Mahdi Ammash, announced
all airports west of the Euphrates River were on standby alert, all planes were ordered to be ready to take off on 30 minutes notice, and all army units west of the Euphrates were prepared to move within half an hour.

The moves came less than 24 hours after Syria announced an armed clash with 15 Israeli armored cars on the 70-mile armistice line. Both Syria and Israel announced an air battle between Syrian MIG-17 fighter planes and Israeli Mirages.

Each nation claimed its fighters shot down one of the other's planes. Each accused the other of violating its air space.

Israel filed a complaint against Syria with the U.N. Security Council. The council was expected to meet in New York Friday or early next week.

Syria instructed its U.N. delegation to file countercharges.

Another $84,000
Of Loot Recovered

LONDON (AP)—British police have recovered another 30,000 pounds ($764,699) of the great train robbery loot. It was found in an abandoned auto trailer.

Police, announcing the discovery, intensified a search for the man and woman, with a baby, who left the trailer parked last week at a trailer camp near Dorset, Surrey.

The trailer cash brought to 273-107 pounds ($764,699) the total so far recovered of the 2.6 million pounds ($7,280,000) taken by the gang that robbed the Glasgow-London mail train.

Firemen Submit Pay Hike Request

A letter requesting a salary increase for members of the Circleville Fire Department was submitted last night to City Council.

The communication, signed by Fire Chief Bernard Wolfe, cited the rising cost of living and the need for a pay scale to meet this situation. It asked that the salary hike request be referred to the proper Council committee for consideration.

The letter was received and placed on file by Council vote. Indications are the request will now come under study of the finance and safety committees.

Additional business coming before the solons included action on eight ordinances and two resolutions. All were approved.

ONE OF the resolutions confirmed the issuance and sale of bonds for the City View sanitary sewer system, amounting to $21-125. Accepted was a bid by the J. A. White Co. of Cincinnati. The interest rate was listed at 3 per cent and the premium at $117.

The second resolution adopted concerned acceptance of a report submitted by an equalizing board that was formed to hear assessment objections on Circleville Sewer District No. 2 (see story on page 10).

The eight ordinances, all gaining passage, were appropriation of money measures. They were:

Appropriation of $125 to be credited to the care of cemetery account for maintenance of the cemetery section set aside for burial of indigent persons.

Transfer of $50,000 from surplus funds of the waterworks operating fund to the major water works improvement fund. This money will be used to pay contractor estimates coming due relative to the city's waterworks improvement project by enacting the transfer, the city will not be forced to draw on approved project funds that were invested during the interim period of waterworks construction.

Appropriation of $10,000 from unappropriated monies of the street construction, maintenance, and repair fund to be credited to the major street reconstruction account, plus the appropriation of $4-000 from the same fund to be credited to the materials account of the street fund. This measure is designed to increase street reconstruction here, especially while weather is favorable.

Appropriation of $300 from the general fund to be credited to the fire department incidentals and bedding account.

Appropriation of $100 from the general fund to be credited to the parking meter incidentals and supplies account.

Appropriation of $360 from the general fund to be credited to the auditor's stationery and supplies account.

Two ordinances placed on their passage concerned appropriations for extra clerk hire and purchase of office equipment for Circleville Municipal Court (see story on page 18).

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)— Troops and police seized Buddhist pagodas throughout South Viet Nam today in a crackdown ordered by President Ngo Dinh Diem. Many monks and nuns were arrested.

Rhe rough-shod crackdown was quickly denounced by the United States government.

Seeking to end a three-month-old crisis, Diem instituted a state of siege that included a strict national curfew and military control. He remained at the helm.

President Kennedy's administration, which has supplied 14,000 American military men and $500 million a year to back Diem's Communist threatened regime, charged the Saigon government violated pledges for a peaceful reconciliation with the Buddhists.

Diem, a Roman Catholic, declared a state of siege throughout his nation of 15 million and ordered the army to move in on the yellow-robed leaders of the Buddhist challenge to his government.

The Saigon Radio announced raids were made on three pagodas in the capital.

Though the monks are pledged to nonviolence, it said a submachine gun, 14 plastic explosive charges and 10 daggers were seized at the Ravada pagoda.

The State Department announced in Washington American disapproval of Diem's maneuvers.

"On the basis of information from Saigon," it said, "it appears the government of the republic of Viet Nam has instituted repressive measures against Vietnamese Buddhist leaders."

"The action represents a direct violation by the Vietnamese government of assurances that it was pursuing a policy of reconciliation with the Buddhists."

"The United States deplors repressive actions of this nature."

High U.S. authorities in Washington said, however, that American aid for the war against the Communists would continue.

A proclamation broadcast by Saigon Radio said Diem's government had adopted an "attitude of extreme conciliation" toward the Buddhists, "but the government's efforts have not met with a similar attitude."

The president blamed "a few (Buddhists) who indulge in political speculation, exploit religion, and take advantage of the desire for extreme conciliation of the government to multiply illegal acts with the aim of stirring up disturbances to sabotage that policy, prevent the application of the law, damage the prestige of Buddhism, thereby only benefitting communism."

Diem ordered the army to take "all necessary measures to restore security and public order, so that the state may be protected, communism defeated, freedom secured and democracy achieved."

37 Cuban Refugees
Aided by Coast Guard

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Thirty-seven Cuban refugees jammed onto a 26-foot motor sailboat were taken aboard a Coast Guard cutter southeast of Anguilla Cay in the Bahamas on Tuesday. They will be taken to Key West, Fla.

Coast Guard officers said a Navy patrol plane spotted the refugee boat and the 165-foot cutter Nemesio, on patrol in the area, was sent to pick up the 10 men, 13 women and 14 children aboard.
The refugees' boat was taken in tow.

What Does A Chef Serve Fellow Chefs?

CLEVELAND (AP)—What does a chef serve when his guests are 200 of the country's top chefs?

That was the problem faced Tuesday night by Erwin Buttiker, executive chef at Hotel Sheraton-Cleveland. The chefs' dinner was a combined meeting of the American Culinary Association and the American Institute of Chefs.

This was the menu:
Appetizers — Beluga caviar, smoked salmon, back fin crab meat with remoulade sauce and assorted canapés. Soup — essence of tomato madrilene. Main course — Sautéed breast of capon, demi glace and veloute, Belgian baby carrots, Parisienne potatoes, Kentucky bibb lettuce salad and mimosa with vinaigrette dressing.
Dessert — Kirchwasser torte, a pastry with liqueur and layers of flaky crust.

Castro Deploys Guns
To Meet Hit-Run Troops

HAVANA (AP)—Tanks, anti-aircraft guns and troops are deploying along Cuba's sparsely defended north coast to guard against stepped-up hit-and-run attacks by anti-Castro raiders.

Prime Minister Fidel Castro's government said Tuesday it is acting to assure Cuba's defense.

The government charged that Monday's attack by two small boats on a metal plant in western Cuba proved the existence of a new plan of aggression against Cuba.

JFK Asks Foreign Aid Critics Which Programs To Be Killed

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has put in a strong plug for his foreign aid program, timed for the opening of House debate on the big measure.

"However tired we may get of this program, our adversaries are not tired. I don't think this country is tired and the cause of freedom should certainly not be fatigued."

He told a news conference Tuesday, only hours after the $4.1-billion authorization bill reached the House floor.

Asking for full House support of the bill, Kennedy said: "No party or group should call for a dynamic foreign policy and then seek to cripple this program."

"One wonders which concrete actions critics would like to stop,"
he said. "Should we scrap the Al-

Should we deny help to India, the

MCARTHUR, Ohio (AP)—One accident which followed another caused the death Thursday night of Howard C. (Jack) Bobo, 66, of Athens, retired Athens division manager of the Columbus &

Bobo, who has a farm in Vinton County, was driving on a town-left the road and went into a ditch.

He went to a nearby resident, Leonard McVey, to ask help with a tractor. After the tractor had pulled the car part way back on the road, it rolled backward, striking Bobo and killing him.

Birmingham Seethes Anew

Negro Integration
Leader's Home Bombed

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Seething racial tensions exploded with new violence Tuesday night and left Birmingham fearful of still more trouble when its schools desegregate two weeks from today.

A dynamite bomb ripped away part of the fashionable home of Arthur D. Shores, Negro attorney and active participant in the struggle for integration. Minutes later, angry gangs of Negroes roamed the streets, hurling rocks at police and passersby.

Police Chief Jamie Moore said his officers, with the help of deputies from the sheriff's office, broke up the rock-throwing crowds and restored order two and a half hours after the bomb tore a four-foot hole in a corner of Shores' garage, which is attached to the eight-room brick house.

Negro ministers, including the Rev. A.D. King, whose own home was dynamited in another bombing three months ago, climbed to the top of a police car to plead with the shouting Negro mob to disperse.

"If you are going to kill someone, kill me," shouted King, whose brother, the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., is one of the nation's foremost integration leaders.

Another barrage of rocks answered his appeal.

Police fired rifle and shotgun blasts into the air to break up the yelling crowd, estimated by police at 1,000 or more.

After the Negroes finally left, Moore ordered the area around Shores' home roped off to keep bystanders away.

City schools have been ordered by the federal courts to start desegregation at the beginning of the fall term Sept. 4.

The integration will start with the 12th grade in high school. There have been no open threats of violence for the opening of schools, but a tear gas incident last week and the bombing and rioting Tuesday night left residents uneasy.

Revival of 'South Pacific' Is Some Enchanted Evening

By Richard L. Davis

Any production bearing the trademark of Rodgers and Hammerstein usually gets (and deserves) top treatment — and the revival of "South Pacific" this week by the Kenley Players doesn't violate this unwritten law.

The elaborately staged musical hit as presented on the Veterans Memorial stage must be declared one of the season's best by virtue of the casting alone. The huge cast, headed by Dorothy Collins and Gene Hollman, reproduces the "South Pacific" flavor that was created on Broadway in 1949 by Mary Martin and the late Ezio Pinza.

Miss Collins, remembered by many as the Lucky Strike girl of the TV Hit Parade of a few years back, is charming as Nellie Forbush, the Navy nurse stationed on a South Pacific island military base.

She bounces through her spotlighted numbers including "Cock-eyed Optimist," "I'm Gonna Wash That Man Right Outa My Hair" and "Honeybun" as if she had always been Nellie Forbush. In fact many will associate her stage appearance with that of the incomparable Miss Martin.

The rich baritone voice of Gene Hollman as Emile, Nellie's counterpart, more than does justice to "Some Enchanted Evening" and "This Nearly Was Mine." Hollman appeared with the Kenley Players last season with Jane Powell in "The Most Happy Fella" and earlier this season in "Fanny."

Doubt is that anyone, other than Juanita Hall of the original "South Pacific" crew, could capture an audience any quicker than Honey Sanders in the role of Bloody Mary, the Polynesian souvenir shop operator who offers shrunken heads and grass skirts to the sailors for their girls back home. Her rendition of "Bali Hai" is a highlight of the show.

Don McKay as the young Marine Lt. Cable is another of the supporting cast that makes the Kenley production a smash hit, not to mention the antics of Bill McDonald as Sgt. Billis.

The long established reputation of Rodgers and Hammerstein need not be mentioned. The Kenley Players staging this week renders everything from the vehicle that the famed writer and composer intended.

Service Station Aide Kills Youth

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A teenager shot by a service station attendant died in St. Elizabeth Hospital early today, police reported.

The victim was identified as David Ernest Hatfield, 19.

Detective Sgt. W. K. Mortimer said Hatfield was shot in the right temple with a .22-caliber pistol Tuesday night inside the service station by Albert L. Casanova Jr., 21, of Dayton.

Mortimer quoted Casanova as saying he was emerging from his service station, when the pistol fired, striking Hatfield. Mortimer said Casanova was holding the gun.

Casanova was jailed for investigation.

Use of Guard Is under Fire

3 Dixie Governors
Rap Federal Tactics

W. Va. (AP)—Three Southern governors today attacked federal use of National Guard troops to enforce integration and a controversial directive aimed at giving military commanders a role in racial issues.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas, who was the first state chief to meet with federalized Guardsmen in Little Rock integration crisis, denounced such troop use as an apparent attempt "to sabotage the Guard."

Faubus and Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama said steps taken by the President in federalizing Guard units to enforce court orders were illegal.

"If this practice continues, maybe it will destroy the National Guard," Faubus said. "Perhaps that's the purpose."

The governors spoke out in a sort of round-table assault on federal policies at the final session of the Southern Governors Conference. The topic under discussion was National Guard reorganization.

Gov. Donald S. Russell of South Carolina criticized the issuance by Defense Secretary Robert McNamara of a directive that permits military commanders to declare segregated civilian facilities off limits.

Russell labeled the directive an order for officers "to take part in political activity."

Gov. John B. Connally of Texas, a close ally of Vice President Lyndon Johnson, defended reorganization of the National Guard which has been opposed by many governors. Connally said it was simply a matter of not enough money to go around.

The discussion by the governors was touched off by a report that Army National Guard strength had sunk to a low point under a tight federal budget.

Khrush Sees Big Future For Reds

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev told Yugoslav workers today that the enemies of communism would one day want to live in Communist countries.

He also said the fact that Soviet Union now is rated one of the two big powers in the world along with the United States was a good argument for the Communist system.

Khrushchev made his remarks in an hour-long speech during a visit to the giant motor plant at Rakovica outside Belgrade.

In his address and extemporaneous remarks, he hailed Yugoslav-Russian ties and declared that the 1948 break between Belgrade and Moscow had accomplished nothing.

Khrushchev hit hard at the theme of Yugoslav-Soviet unity. The Soviet Union has been pressing a campaign to bring the two countries—both targets of Red China's hard-line wrath—closer together.

"Our attitudes are identical or quite close," said Khrushchev.

He added: "You and we have a joint enemy—Imperialism—and there is no reason why we should not go along together."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

My sister uses cortisone. I am worried since the enclosed clipping states cortisone is dangerous.

Mrs. H. S. Illinois

Dear Mrs. S.: If you will read the article again, you will find that the doctor who wrote it considers this valuable drug a boon to its users. He does emphasize, and rightly so, that cortisone should be taken only under careful supervision by the physician. Dosage of cortisone must be constantly adjusted according to the patient's needs.

My teenage son gets a pimple in his nose every few months. Then the nose gets red and swollen. What causes this?

Mrs. R. F. Wisconsin

Dear Mrs. F.: These pimples in the nose are called furuncles. They are tiny abscesses usually around the base of visible hairs in the nostrils.

Almost always they are caused by nose-picking, with or without a handkerchief. The redness and swelling are part of nature's healing mechanism as a defense against bacteria.

These infections are usually not dangerous but should not be neglected.

My children are going on a camping trip in an area where there are snakes. Are there any special precautions to be taken?

Mrs. C. K. D. Arkansas

Dear Mrs. D.: Obviously, the best precaution is to keep the children away from areas that are known to be infested with snakes. All children and devotees of outdoor life should be taught the standard emergency treatment for snake bite: A small cut, followed by mouth suction and tourniquet.

In many instances, this treatment has been responsible for the saving of lives.

There is now an additional suggestion that the hand or foot that is bitten be immersed in ice water. Salt water must not be used, for it might cause frostbite.

Anti-venom serum and immediate treatment by a doctor are, of course, most important.

I travel a great deal on business to the Far East. How often should I have typhoid booster shots?

D. M. California

Dear Mr. M.: The United States government has only recently inspected this problem because of the varied opinions on it. They have now made suggestions for military personnel that can also be applied to civilians.

Public Health officials advise that a single dose of typhoid booster is all that is necessary for people who have been fully immunized before. Some physicians, however, still prefer to repeat the complete typhoid immunization after an interval of two or three years.

In a strict reducing diet can large amounts of vitamins alone sustain the body?

L. C. New York

Dear Miss C.: No, definitely not. Vitamins represent only a small part of the nutritional needs of the body.

No one should undertake a rigid dietary regime without the advice of a physician.

Wonders Will Never Cease

By John Chamberlain

When I first heard that there were plans afoot to build a National Cultural Center for the Performing Arts in Washington, D. C., my well-trained libertarian hackles rose predictably. Mindful of my friend Leonard Read's insistence that opera can't be grand if it is subsidized by the State by raiding the pocketbooks of people who are allergic to mezzo-sopranos, I thought we were threatened with just another boondoggle bearing no relation to fiscal justice.

Well, it turns out that in this particular instance I emoted before I was hit. To my intense surprise, I discover that the U. S. Congress, in giving a green light to the supporters of a National Cultural Center, has voted for a change to get something off the public cuff instead of on it. This must constitute something of a record.

There will be a National Cultural Center, all right, and it will be built on publicly owned land and by the Potomac River above the Lincoln Memorial. But Congress has told the Cultural Center Board Chairman, Roger L. Stevens, the New York real estate tycoon who doubles in brass as Broadway's most successful angel, to go out and scratch for the $30 million needed to turn architect Edward Durrell Stone's designs into reality.

The plans for the building are impressive. When it is completed it will consist of three halls under a single roof. There will be a 2,750-seat symphony hall, a 1,200-seat theatre, and a 2,500-seat hall for ballet, musical comedy, and opera. Under a retractable section of the roof there will be space for restaurants, children's puppet shows, are exhibits and band concerts. Since Washington draws upwards of 9,000,000 visitors a year, the potential audience for first-run movies and shows, visiting ballet troupes and touring college dramatic exhibitions should be large enough to keep the Cultural Center in the black.

Mr. Stevens has already landed $5 million from the Ford Foundation. Ernest Breech, former chairman of the Ford Motor Company, is expected to dig up $6 million more as head of a business committee. To bait those who yearn for a limited approach to immorality the Center will honor contributors of $100,000 or more with plaques on pillars surrounding the Center. The $15,000 contributors will have their names inscribed in marble in one of the Center's halls. As for the fifty States of the union, they will be rewarded by a representation of State flags and seals provided they can contribute a penny per person in accordance with populations.

The truly interesting thing about all this is not that Washington is going to get culture. To us dwellers in the sticks, culture is as culture locally does — and from the performing arts standpoint it is doing very well in my neck of the woods. I have only to drive an hour or more from my home to hear a Brahms recital at the Yale School of Music summer digs in Norfolk, Connecticut, which is up in the Berkshire foothills, or to watch Jose Limon's dance company perform at the Connecticut College for Women in New London, or to see Shakespeare played at Stratford-on-Housatonic. "Off Broadway" is now practically everywhere, so I personally couldn't care less about a move to centralize culture in the nation's capital. On the other hand, I can see that it is a good idea to provide per-

Quite aside from personal preferences and the performers need for a national platform, however, Mr. Stevens' private money-raising crusade could have a profound effect on the average American's notion of what constitutes a legitimate use of the taxing power. H. L. Mencken, whose idea of the proper limits of exercise was to lift a stein of beer exactly two feet from a table top to his mouth, always resented it when he was taxed to support public park tennis tournaments in Baltimore. Multiplied over all sorts of activity, every citizen of the U. S. must resent some use of public funds to support things which do not interest him in the least.

So, why can't Congress tell a lot of people other than Mr. Stevens to go scratch? If ex-Ambassador John Kenneth Galbraith wants the Indian government to have a $1.5 billion steel mill let him beat the American bushes for private contributions for same. You get the idea.

As for foreign aid in general, Italian business men are giving — yes, giving — Mr. Stevens the marble needed for the Cultural Center. Wonders will never cease.

"Dear JAWAHAR, YOU WANT PEACE FOR MEN OR PIECES OF MEN?"

They don't like Nehru—Anti-government banners are waved outside parliament in New Delhi, India, as some 10,000 demonstrators demand resignation of Prime Minister Nehru, citing "corruption, despotism, inefficiency."

Enthusiastic Travelers

United States Passport Office says it anticipates a 10 per cent increase in the number of passports to be issued during this fiscal year, which will mean 100,000 more Americans are contemplating a trip some where outside the U. S.

As reflection of the continued prosperity and increasing leisure time of Americans, this is heartening news. It should be encouraging, too, for travel agents, air and steamship lines, foreign hostels and everyone who is enriched by the traveler's dollar.

And that's where the rub comes. With dollar balances already in a rather precarious shape, this sharp increase in travel will have a further unsettling influence on them. It may lead to further decreases in the amount of duty free purchases Americans may bring home or even to the imposition of higher duties.

But while that may alleviate the outflow of dollars, it isn't likely to keep many Americans at home. It's easy to travel these days, and most Americans would like to see at least some of the rest of the world before it all gets to looking like the United States, or vice versa.

Defense Note

Two and a half years ago, when Defense Secretary McNamara came to office, he promised he was going to find one kind of belt buckle that would serve for Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines.

No sense in everybody having a different kind of buckle, he said. Besides, having only one would save money.

Well, time's a-wasting, and belt-buckle unification has not yet been accomplished. Nobody can design one that pleases everybody.

In this unsettled world it gives the citizen a chilly feeling to think that the mighty resources of the Defense Department cannot even produce a new belt buckle.

Kitchen Help

The American housewife, who has more labor-saving devices at hand than anybody else in the history of the world, can look forward to still another — pre-marinated steak for making sukiyaki.

It comes from beer-fed cattle, and is being imported from Japan. It will sell for $3 to $8 a pound — cheap enough when you figure all the trouble it must be to open a bottle of beer and pour it over some steak.

It ought to be just the thing for the beer-fed American husband, too.

Remarks To Irk an Executive

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Remarks a big business executive gets tired of hearing:

"I realize that most men in your financial bracket worry themselves into ulcers, but our medical examination shows that you are as sound as a nut."

"I wouldn't keep him waiting, sir—I believe he's from the Internal Revenue Service."

"Kindly lower your voice, Mr. Bascomb. O. Bascomb. This is your house, not your office—and I'm your wife, not your hiring."

"But really, Mr. Bascomb. It's terribly difficult trying to take dictation while sitting on someone's lap."

"There's only one thing he hates worse having around him than a yes-man—and that's anybody who tells him no."

"Every time he loses an argument at home he has to win two at the office."

"I believe you'll find our sales chart more readily understandable, sir, if you'll turn it around and hold it right side up."

"Look at the bags under his eyes. You just know this is going to be a rough day."

"He spent all morning pushing buttons and scaring his vice presidents. I don't think he'll get around to scaring us until this afternoon."

"It's my salary I wanted to speak to you about, Mr. Bascomb. My wife said for me to tell you that—"

"He brought his golf clubs with him. I guess we can all sneak out early today."

"Yeah, Mabel, he and the board chairman were having a knock-down-drag-out argument over who'd get to use the company yacht this weekend. Oops, here he comes now. Ring you back later with the rest of the dirt."

"This is the biggest economy wave he's launched yet. He's ordered us to save all the paper clips that come in the mail, and use them on our letters."

"The only safe thing to do is to start chucking the moment he begins to tell a joke. Then if you miss the punchline, it won't make any difference."

"Bascomb didn't invent the three-martini lunch, but he ought to build a monument to the guy who did."

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—Uncle Sam continues to push his exports well above his imports but also sends an increasingly larger number of dollars abroad than he gets back.

So foreigners' holdings of dollar claims against him have gone up again—as anticipated. How to stop it is a more critical question today than six months ago.

Some call it the No. 1 economic problem in foreign affairs, just as unemployment remains the No. 1 domestic economic sore spot.

Despite all attempts by the U.S. government to halt the drain, the deficit between the number of dollars the United States is spending abroad as the number it gets back is running well above this time last year, or the first of this year.

This is in spite of a favorable balance of trade—excess of commercial exports over imports—in the first six months of 1963 of about $5 billion, when figured on an annual basis.

Our exports were at an annual rate of $21.5 billion and our imports $16.6 billion. That wasn't enough to balance our books with the rest of the world.

That $5 billion surplus of exports over imports more than disappears when you add in U.S. spending abroad for foreign aid in grants or loans, for its military forces, private travel, and private investment and bank loans.

Americans have been buying increasing amounts of foreign securities, for one thing. The Commerce Department says about $1 billion of these were sold here in the first half of this year.

This would be almost as much as sold in all of 1962 and almost twice as much as in 1961 or in 1960.

The department announced these figures earlier than had been expected, its report on the first half of the year usually coming later in August.

The announcement was on the eve of congressional hearings into an administration proposal to tax the purchase of foreign securities by Americans, if bought from foreigners and thus piling still higher the amount of dollars held abroad.

Religious Billboard Message Received; It's Stolen, That Is

VAN WERT, Ohio (AP)—A thief got the message—he stole it. Because of it, sponsors of the big religious billboard east of here on U.S. 30 are putting their trust in the "mighty force" they had advertised.

Thirty-five large letters offered this message: "Prayer is the Mightiest Force in the World."

Now the 35 letters are gone. "So we're praying that the person who took the letters will return them. Maintenance is carried on solely by persons interested in advertising God's word," a spokesman said.

The victims, citing Jesus' words in the Bible, offered this consolation to the thief: "I will remember your sin no more."

Ohio Liquor License Fees Show Decline

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Liquor license fees collected during the fiscal year ended last June 30 dropped $130,975 from the previous year, according to an audit just completed by State Auditor Roger W. Tracy.

Revenues received from the sale of permits amounted to $9,055,062 in fiscal 1963 against $9,186,037 in fiscal 1962, Tracy reported. These funds are all returned to the taxing districts in which the permit holder has his place of business.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Mrs. H. S. Illinois

Dear Mrs. S.: If you will read the article again, you will find that the doctor who wrote it considers this valuable drug a boon to its users. He does emphasize, and rightly so, that cortisone should be taken only under careful supervision by the physician. Dosage of cortisone must be constantly adjusted according to the patient's needs.

My teenage son gets a pimple in his nose every few months. Then the nose gets red and swollen. What causes this?

Mrs. R. F. Wisconsin

Dear Mrs. F.: These pimples in the nose are called furuncles. They are tiny abscesses usually around the base of visible hairs in the nostrils.

Almost always they are caused by nose-picking, with or without a handkerchief. The redness and swelling are part of nature's healing mechanism as a defense against bacteria.

These infections are usually not dangerous but should not be neglected.

My children are going on a camping trip in an area where there are snakes. Are there any special precautions to be taken?

Mrs. C. K. D. Arkansas

Dear Mrs. D.: Obviously, the best precaution is to keep the children away from areas that are known to be infested with snakes. All children and devotees of outdoor life should be taught the standard emergency treatment for snake bite: A small cut, followed by mouth suction and tourniquet. In many instances, this treatment has been responsible for the saving of lives.

There is now an additional suggestion that the hand or foot that is bitten be immersed in ice water. Salt water must not be used, for it might cause frostbite. Anti-venom serum and immediate treatment by a doctor are, of course, most important.

I travel a great deal on business to the Far East. How often should I have typhoid booster shots?

D. M. California

Dear Mr. M.: The United States government has only recently inspected this problem because of the varied opinions on it. They have now made suggestions for military personnel that can also be applied to civilians.

Public Health officials advise that a single dose of typhoid booster is all that is necessary for people who have been fully immunized before. Some physicians, however, still prefer to repeat the complete typhoid immunization after an interval of two or three years.

In a strict reducing diet can large amounts of vitamins alone sustain the body?

L. C. New York

Dear Miss C.: No, definitely not. Vitamins represent only a small part of the nutritional needs of the body.

No one should undertake a rigid dietary regime without the advice of a physician.

Wonders Will Never Cease

By John Chamberlain

When I first heard that there were plans afoot to build a National Cultural Center for the Performing Arts in Washington, D. C., my well-trained libertarian hackles rose predictably. Mindful of my friend Leonard Read's insistence that opera can't be grand if it is subsidized by the State by raiding the pocketbooks of people who are allergic to mezzo-sopranos, I thought we were threatened with just another boondoggle bearing no relation to fiscal justice.

Well, it turns out that in this particular instance I erred before I was hit. To my intense surprise, I discover that the U. S. Congress, in giving a green light to the supporters of a National Cultural Center, has voted for a change to get something off the public cuff instead of on it. This must constitute something of a record.

There will be a National Cultural Center, all right, and it will be built on publicly owned land and by the Potomac River above the Lincoln Memorial. But Congress has told the Cultural Center Board Chairman, Roger L. Stevens, the New York real estate tycoon who doubles in brass as Broadway's most successful angel, to go out and scratch for the $30 million needed to turn architect Edward Durrell Stone's designs into reality.

The plans for the building are impressive. When it is completed it will consist of three halls under a single roof. There will be a 2,750-seat symphony hall, a 1,200-seat theatre, and a 2,500-seat hall for ballet, musical comedy, and opera. Under a retractable section of the roof there will be space for restaurants, children's puppet shows, are exhibits and band concerts. Since Washington draws upwards of 9,000,000 visitors a year, the potential audience for first-run movies and shows, visiting ballet troupes and touring college dramatic exhibitions should be large enough to keep the Cultural Center in the black.

Mr. Stevens has already landed $5 million from the Ford Foundation. Ernest Breech, former chairman of the Ford Motor Company, is expected to dig up $6 million more as head of a business committee. To bait those who yearn for a limited approach to immorality the Center will honor contributors of $100,000 or more with plaques on pillars surrounding the Center. The $15,000 contributors will have their names inscribed in marble in one of the Center's halls. As for the fifty States of the union, they will be rewarded by a representation of State flags and seals provided they can contribute a penny per person in accordance with populations.

The truly interesting thing about all this is not that Washington is going to get culture. To us dwellers in the sticks, culture is as culture locally does — and from the performing arts standpoint it is doing very well in my neck of the woods. I have only to drive an hour or more from my home to hear a Brahms recital at the Yale School of Music summer digs in Norfolk, Connecticut, which is up in the Berkshire foothills, or to watch Jose Limon's dance company perform at the Connecticut College for Women in New London, or to see Shakespeare played at Stratford-on-Housatonic. "Off Broadway" is now practically everywhere, so I personally couldn't care less about a move to centralize culture in the nation's capital. On the other hand, I can see that it is a good idea to provide per-

Quite aside from personal preferences and the performers need for a national platform, however, Mr. Stevens' private money-raising crusade could have a profound effect on the average American's notion of what constitutes a legitimate use of the taxing power. H. L. Mencken, whose idea of the proper limits of exercise was to lift a stein of beer exactly two feet from a table top to his mouth, always resented it when he was taxed to support public park tennis tournaments in Baltimore. Multiplied over all sorts of activity, every citizen of the U. S. must resent some use of public funds to support things which do not interest him in the least.

So, why can't Congress tell a lot of people other than Mr. Stevens to go scratch? If ex-Ambassador John Kenneth Galbraith wants the Indian government to have a $1.5 billion steel mill let him beat the American bushes for private contributions for same. You get the idea.

As for foreign aid in general, Italian business men are giving — yes, giving — Mr. Stevens the marble needed for the Cultural Center. Wonders will never cease.

THEY DON'T LIKE NEHRU—Anti-government banners are waved outside parliament in New Delhi, India, as some 10,000 demonstrators demand resignation of Prime Minister Nehru, citing "corruption, despotism, inefficiency."

5 Newark Firm Involved in Identical Bids

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—The Tennessee Valley Authority reports it has received two groups of identical bids on power cable in recent months, but has reacted by negotiating a $60,000 price reduction in one case and rejecting the second set of bids completely.

Six firms submitted the bids, including Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Corp., Newark, Ohio. The others are Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp., Anaconda Co., Reynolds Metals Co., Central Cable Co. and Rome Cable Corp. On each contract, the same six firms bid 30.6 cents per foot of steel-reinforced aluminum conductor.

Cadiz Attorney Named Harrison County Jurist

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—William E. Speiker, Cadiz attorney, received appointment today from Gov. James A. Rhodes as Harrison County judge, to succeed the late Judge L. S. Mikesell. Speiker, now acting county judge, will take office officially Sept. 6 and serve until a successor is elected next November.

Identical bidding resulted in antitrust action in 1960 against 60 electrical industry leaders.

The federal agency said it negotiated the price reduction with Rome Cable on one contract and will seek new bids soon on the other. The negotiated price on the one deal was $2,235,000. The second group of bids, which was rejected, totaled $3,730,000.

History of Ice Age

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—New facts about life and climate during the last Ice Age in North America may be discovered by using a research method developed at Ohio State University.

Dr. Aurele LaRocque, OSU geology professor, combines geologic and biologic techniques to compare past and present environments by correlating small fossils of the Pleistocene Age with the same species living today.

Since 1952, he has applied this method to the history of Ohio's last Ice Age some 10 to 15 thousand years ago. Now with the aid of a National Science Foundation grant he will study a much broader area of North America to determine an over-all pattern.

Two from Here At Convention In Granville

Miss Del Renick and Mrs. George M. Meyers Sr., represented the Circleville Garden Club, Region 9, at the 33rd annual convention of the Ohio Association of Garden Clubs held last week at Denison University, Granville.

"Gardening Education" was the theme. The OAGC has over 21,000 members throughout the State of Ohio and over 1,200 delegates from various clubs were present.

Dr. Charles Dambach, director of Natural Resources Institute of Ohio State University, spoke on the topic, "Current and Future Status of Conservation Programs for Ohio." He stated that the department of Wildlife has made funds available for the Conservancy districts which are a necessity.

Dr. Henry Skinner, director of the United States National Arboretum in Washington D. C., discussed "New Plants for American Gardens." He said that plants are sent there to be catalogued, tested for hardiness and then are referred to various parts of the United States as suitable garden material.

"History of Flower Arranging", was the topic Reed Schuster, Cincinnati, used in his many flower arranging demonstrations. He began with arrangements from the Bible, explaining that the "lilies of the fields" were not the lilies as we know them today, but rather an assortment of flowers growing in the fields.

Clinics were held for flower shows, garden therapy, garden path, horticulture, junior garden clubs, publicity, judges guild and school, yearbooks, nature and conservation and roadside and civic beautification.

Mrs. Wade Cozad, state president, presided at the general sessions and business meeting. She urged that more Junior Garden Clubs be formed so that young people would be informed and interested in beautifying areas rather than destroying them.

2,100 Attend Annual GE Family Picnic

More than 2,100 General Electric employees and guests attended the annual family basket picnic of the Circleville Lamp Plant held at Buckeye Lake Park Saturday. According to E. G. Grigg, plant manager, this was the largest attendance ever.

Beginning at noon and ending at 5:30 p. m., the program included free rides on 16 of the Park's major amusement rides, free coffee, soft drinks and candy, free bingo and number drawings for prizes.

Following bingo held at Crystal Ballroom from 2-4 p. m., prize drawings were held in the center of the midway between 4-4:30 p. m.

The grand prize was the winner's choice of one of four GE products including a clothes dryer, mobile - maid dishwasher, room air - conditioner or stereo console. The grand prize was won by Janet Reichelderfer who chose the dryer.

Small appliance prizes were won by the following GE employees: Charles Ebert, Evelyn Carter, Doris Barthelmas, Bea Young, Jean McRoberts, Robert Weaver, Georgia McKenzie, Marol Morris, Mary Whaley, Russell Dickey, Jean Bumen, Charles Endicott and Charlene Hartsaugh.

DEB SHOP CHATTER

Sometime ago we read an article about asking questions. It seems that it is a distinguishing mark of Americans everywhere to want to know things.

The English have been taught that it is ill-bred to probe into one's private affairs. It is also the view of cultivated persons outside of this country. However, if they could only understand, most of our questions are just ordinary conversation and we do not want nor do we expect an answer.

For instance, when you meet a person and say, "Hello, how are you?" You certainly don't expect them to tell you exactly how they feel, hardly a soul is interested in an upset liver, ulcers, indigestion, that corn on the small toe, or... your general health.

However, when a friend asks where you bought your beautiful new fall transitions, an answer is expected. And we know the answer will be "The Deb Shop".

It is more fun to come in and see our new fall merchandise. Everyday huge boxes arrive and it is just like Christmas opening them!

Transitions by Gay Gibson and Barnesville, U.S.A., the ones that take you from summer into fall, are very popular. New fall sportswear by Garland, Petti, Thermo-Jac and Country Set makes you think of football games, burning leaves and hazy autumn skies. And P. S. Don't neglect the goodies on the sale table!

Dear Abby: Speak to Your Mother!

by Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a 12-year-old boy and every day of my summer vacation I stay home alone and watch television. My mother works all day long, Monday through Friday, and she doesn't want me leaving the house. I have nobody to talk to except the dog, and if somebody heard the way I carry on a conversation with him they would think I was nuts. I am not supposed to let anybody in the house.

A BOY UNNAMED
DEAR UNNAMED: Boredom is only one of your problems. A boy your age needs fresh air, exercise and the companionship of other young people. Ask your mother if there isn't a day camp where she can send you. A boy your age shouldn't be cooped up in the house all summer.

DEAR ABBY: My sister and I have a friend who lives in the same apartment building as we do. She went on a vacation and left the keys to her apartment with her gentleman friend so he could water her plants and look after her gold fish. She hadn't been gone two days when this no-good gentleman friend brought another woman into her apartment. All the neighbors know about it and we are afraid one of them will tell her when she gets back. Should we tell her first, or should we let this man make a fool of her?

FRIENDS
DEAR FRIENDS: WHO was the "other woman"? WHY did the "gentleman" take her there? Unless you are sure of the facts, don't be the bearer of such news. And if you ARE sure, even then think twice.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I were invited to a wedding. He scarcely knows the people and I have never met them. My husband is a professor, and the bride was a former student. My husband will be unable to attend as the date conflicts with a previous commitment. Would it be proper for me to go with my older, bachelor brother? Must we send a gift whether we attend the wedding or not?

MUST KNOW
DEAR MUST: You were apparently invited because of your HUSBAND'S former association with the bride. In view of this fact, and since you know none of the people involved, it might be wise to decline the invitation. A gift is ALWAYS optional.

CONFIDENTIAL TO IRATE ACCOUNTANT IN RIVERSIDE
Doesn't everybody know that in the Rules of Professional Conduct for The American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, it clearly states: "A member shall not violate the confidential relationship between himself and his client?" I didn't think it was necessary to defend a C.P.A. who was gracious enough to do a relative's tax work.

Stainer-McCann Reunion Held

The Stainer and McCann reunion was held Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray McCann, Mt. Sterling.

Those attending were, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Stout, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hunt and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dolph Wolfe and family and Mrs. Donna Hunt and family, Circleville; Mr. and Mrs. George Stone and family, Chester Fretwell and Harry Fretwell, Orient; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Martin, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Martin Jr., Williamsport; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rudisell and son, Pickering; Raymond McCann, Washington C. H.; and Mr. and Mrs. Morris Stainer, Omaha, Neb.

Scioto Chapel Ladies Aid Members Meet

The party room at Prairie Lakes was the setting for the August meeting of the Scioto Chapel EUB Ladies Aid.

Business reports were presented. Mrs. Mabel Walker gave a report on the last stock sale dinner and offered suggestions for future dinners.

A rummage sale was slated for Aug. 30 - 31 and the amount needed for choir robes to be donated to the church. Members also voted to give a donation to the building fund.

Birthday dues were paid by Mrs. Daisy Eitel, Mrs. Gladys Ward, Mrs. Blanche Hott, Mrs. Dorothy Florence, Mrs. Roberta Hedges and Mrs. Edith Koch.

Miss Judy Huston showed colored slides. Refreshments were served to 17 members and six guests. Mrs. Hedges, Mrs. Dorothy Florence and Mrs. Koch were hostesses.

Mrs. Strawser Feted with Stork Shower

Mrs. Harry Strawser was honored recently with a stork shower given by Mrs. Don Strawser and Miss Sharon Strawser at 228 Logan St.

A stork centered the dining room table which was decorated in pink and blue. Refreshments were served.

Games were played and the awards were presented to the honored guest.

Those present were, Mrs. Olan Bostwick, Mrs. George Montgomery, Mrs. Allen Ankrom, Mrs. Lyman England and daughter, Eileen, Mrs. Homer Adams and son Tim, Mrs. Lela Essick, Mrs. Ethel Byers, Mrs. Eli Hedges, Mrs. Dorothy Winell, Mrs. Tom Strawser, Mrs. Allen Strawser, Miss Ethel Strawser and Miss Terri Sue Strawser.

Gifts were sent by Mrs. Roma Troutman, Mrs. Betty Sabine, Mrs. Paul Francis, Mrs. Grover Dresback and daughter, Mrs. Nannie Davis, Mrs. Garnet Reichelderfer, Mrs. Kenneth Dewey, Mrs. Dorothy Adkins, Mrs. Linda Wyncoop, Mrs. Carl Seymour, Mrs. Ethel Lane, Miss Linda Reid, Mrs. Linda Russell, Mrs. Forrest Easterday, Mrs. Robert Lucas and Mrs. Roy Ferguson.

Monrovia GC Has Picnic at Children's Home

Members of the Monrovia Garden Club and their guests enjoyed a picnic Sunday evening at the Pickaway County Children's Home.

Following supper, games and contests were conducted under the direction of Mrs. John O'Day, Mrs. Clyde Michel and Mrs. Charles Fleming.

Mr. and Mrs. Winifred Koch conducted the group on a tour of the home.

Members will meet Sept. 9 in the home of Mrs. Shirley Anderson, with Mrs. Harry Dick as co-hostess.

Select Good China for It Is Very Durable

By ELEANOR ROSS

While we were admiring table settings in the china department of our favorite store, we overheard a customer asking to see some bone earthenware.

The clerk, a gentleman of the old school, then proceeded to give the young woman a fine dissertation on the various types of what is generically termed "china". He explained briefly but succinctly every type from porcelain right down to the fine plastic items that appear on our tables today.

This made us realize what a wealth of table settings there are and how beautiful so many of the comparatively inexpensive settings are. Remember, in choosing china, it's beauty, not price that counts, but still its good to know that some of the prettiest sets and pieces are not at all expensive.

We wish that clerk had explained, though, what "open stock" really means. Many shoppers have been disappointed in the purchase of what they thought was a lifetime china pattern only to discover, when a breakage occurred, that the items could not be replaced.

The explanation is simple. The length of a pattern's life is entirely dependent upon its popularity. One cannot expect a manufacturer to keep the molds and patterns for a set which sold only in small quantities.

Fashions in china change as do other fashions, although some stores guarantee open stock for five years.

So, when selecting china, it is a good idea to find out how long the pattern has been on the market, how much in demand it is and what are its chances for the future.

Fine porcelain china is expensive; it is in the luxury category. But despite its fragile appearance, it's remarkably tough.

The proper ingredients, carefully selected and mixed, make fine china. Certain basic ingredients or materials are considered "tough". Bone is one such which is why "bone china" rates high.

Fine, durable china must be fired at high temperatures which makes the china wonderfully resistant to heat, much more so than the tough-looking earthenware.

The durability of the glaze depends upon the glaze itself and the body of the material over which it is placed.

The high-temperature-fired glaze of better china resists scratching to a greater degree than does the soft glaze of earthenware.

Treat your china with care and it will last and look lovely for many years. Never subject the pieces to abrupt water temperature changes.

Do not use a good piece of china to store something in the refrigerator. Yes, we have seen this done only too often.

Plates and other flat pieces should be carefully stacked, placing paper toweling or special mats between each dish. Hang cups by the handles.

With reasonable care, even with plenty of use, good china lasts

CITES "COMPELLING NEED" FOR SWIFT ACTION—Questioned by the House Ways and Means Committee in Washington, D.C., Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon declared there is a "compelling need" for swift action to stem the flow of U.S. dollars abroad. He urged speedy enactment of President Kennedy's proposal for an "equalization tax" on foreign securities sold in U.S. markets. Dillon (left) is talking with Chairman Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., of the House Committee, at the hearing.

Canton UAW Approves New 2-Year Contract

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — United Auto Workers Local 161 has ratified a two-year contract with the Hercules Motors Division of the Hupp Corp. to replace one that expired Aug. 8. The vote Tuesday was 443 to 174. The new pact calls for a wage increase of six cents an hour retroactive to the expiration date of the old contract and another eight cents an hour next Aug. 8. The wage scale was not announced.

Two from Here At Convention In Granville

Miss Dhel Renick and Mrs. George M. Meyers Sr., represented the Circleville Garden Club, Region 9, at the 33rd annual convention of the Ohio Association of Garden Clubs held last week at Denison University, Granville.

"Gardening Education" was the theme. The OAGC has over 21,000 members throughout the State of Ohio and over 1,200 delegates from various clubs were present.

Dr. Charles Dambach, director of Natural Resources Institute of Ohio State University, spoke on the topic, "Current and Future Status of Conservation Programs for Ohio." He stated that the department of Wildlife has made funds available for the Conservancy districts which are a necessity.

Dr. Henry Skinner, director of the United States National Arboretum in Washington D. C., discussed "New Plants for American Gardens." He said that plants are sent there to be catalogued, tested for hardiness and then are referred to various parts of the United States as suitable garden material.

"History of Flower Arranging" was the topic Reed Schuster, Cincinnati, used in his many flower arranging demonstrations. He began with arrangements from the Bible, explaining that the "lilies of the fields" were not the lilies as we know them today, but rather an assortment of flowers growing in the fields.

Clinics were held for flower shows, garden therapy, garden path, horticulture, junior garden clubs, publicity, judges guild and school, yearbooks, nature and conservation and roadside and civic beautification.

Mrs. Wade Cozad, state president, presided at the general sessions and business meeting. She urged that more Junior Garden Clubs be formed so that young people would be informed and interested in beautifying areas rather than destroying them.

2,100 Attend Annual GE Family Picnic

More than 2,100 General Electric employees and guests attended the annual family basket picnic of the Circleville Lamp Plant held at Buckeye Lake Park Saturday. According to E. G. Grigg, plant manager, this was the largest attendance ever.

Beginning at noon and ending at 5:30 p. m. the program included free rides on 16 of the Park's major amusement rides, free coffee, soft drinks and candy, free bingo and number drawings for prizes. Following bingo held at Crystal Ballroom from 2-4 p. m., prize drawings were held in the center of the midway between 4:30-5 p. m.

The grand prize was the winner's choice of one of four GE products including a clothes dryer, mobile - maid dishwasher, room air - conditioner or stereo console. The grand prize was won by Janet Reichelderfer who chose the dryer.

Small appliance prizes were won by the following GE employees: Charles Ebert, Evelyn Carter, Doris Barthelmas, Bea Young, Jean McRoberts, Robert Weaver, Georgia McKenzie, Marol Morris, Mary Whaley, Russell Dickey, Jean Bumen, Charles Endicott and Charlene Hartsaugh.

DRAFTING CIVIL RIGHTS LEGISLATION—The House Judiciary Subcommittee is shown in session in Washington to draft civil rights legislation. The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — It has happened so many times it's like a ritual in a bargain basement. The President asks more money for foreign aid than anybody, probably including himself, thinks he'll get.

The immediate reaction in Congress is a kind of horror at the thought of shoveling out all that money to foreigners again.

Since the war the United States has provided more than $100 billion in economic and military aid to 111 countries.

After this annual shock Congress finally votes more foreign aid than it seemed willing to do but always less than the President asked.

Tuesday the House began its yearly debate: how much money this time? There will be many weeks of shuffling before the final decision.

That's why President Kennedy's opening statement at his news conference was a rather muffled cry of anguish. He urged Congress to be careful with the scissors.

He will have more to say later if Congress gets too frisky.

This year Kennedy frustrated some of the eager tailors in the Capitol by snipping off some of the money he asked for before Congress had a chance.

Last Jan. 17 he asked $4.9 billion in aid. But before Congress stopped chattering about the enormity of it and got down to business, something extraordinary happened.

A special 10-man committee—headed by Gen. Lucius D. Clay—which Kennedy had appointed to investigate operations of the foreign aid program came out for foreign aid all right—but not with the price tag Kennedy had put on it.

The committee said—or seemed to say, for there was a lot of confusion about this when the committee reported last March 24—that about $500 million should be trimmed off the $4.9 billion Kennedy had asked.

On April 2, Kennedy sent a special message to Congress on foreign aid, chopping almost $500 million off his original request, which is what the Clay committee had seemed to suggest.

On Aug. 6 the House Foreign Affairs Committee went Kennedy one better. It suggested Congress should authorize no more than $4.1 billion for foreign aid, or $800 million less than Kennedy had originally said was needed.

That figure was the starting point when the House began considering the matter this week. But the inclination of some House members will be to show even greater economy than its committee.

The greatest foreign aid tailor in the House is Rep. Otto E. Passman, a Democrat and a millionaire from Louisiana.

In 1961 he had himself wheeled into the House on a big debate day—he had broken his shoulder the day before—and told colleagues: "Even though I'm in pain, I question whether I am as in as much pain as the 187 million Americans who have to foot the bill for this." He has long considered foreign aid "fouled up and uncontrollable."

In 1962 Kennedy asked $4.9 billion. Congress appropriated about $1 billion less even though, in the midst of the slashing, Kennedy protested against cutting "the heart out of the program."

In 1961 Kennedy sought $4.3 billion. Congress voted about $800 million less even though, in the midst of the slicing and slitting, Kennedy cried out against a depopulated program that would be "too little and too late."

Longevity Secret Told

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Mrs. Buchanan (Bessie) Merryman of Washington, DC, aunt of the Duchess of Windsor, celebrated her 100th birthday Monday and said a major ingredient of her recipe for a long and happy life is to "learn to laugh at the world and at yourself."

TUNIC TOP—Parisian designer Pierre Cardin presents this long tunic top for evening wear. The tunic is done in embroidered purple velvet. The floor-length slender skirt is of pale lilac crepe.

Experiments by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration show that 100 pounds of stony meteorite, when boiled at intense heat yield three to four pounds of life-giving oxygen.

New high school students who have moved into Teays Valley School District and who have not previously registered are reminded to do so the week of Aug. 26. Registrations will be handled at the Teays Valley High School office between 9 a. m. and 4 p. m. each day. This does not include those who attended the school last year.

The Teays Valley School Board has hired Cyril R. Rushay of Columbus, a 1963 graduate of Ohio State University, to instruct a special class this year. One opening still remains in the hiring of teachers. A first grade teacher post at Scioto Twp. School still is vacant.

The Board also let the milk contract to Westerville Dairy. Bids from several milk companies were studied.

Five men from this community were among 50 from Ohio attending a tour sponsored by the Ohio Cattle Feeders Assn. to Oklahoma last week. Making the tour were Hewitt Cromley, Don Courtright, Judd Dresbach, Grant Harden and William Plum Sr.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Gregg are their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Jones and children, Douglas, Mark and Nancy of Orinda, Calif.

Mr. Jones left this week for two weeks training with the FBI in Washington, D. C. The rest of the family will enjoy the two weeks stay here with Mr. and Mrs. Gregg before returning home with Mr. Jones.

Karen and Rick Peters, children of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Peters, are visiting this week with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. William Courtright and family, of Mt. Vernon.

The Bastian Funeral Home ambulance Friday returned Mrs. Reed Gloyd home from Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bastian and David spent several days this past week at Cedar Point on Lake Erie.

Miss Pauline Reese of South Bloomfield was host Sunday to a family party in dinner, honoring the birthdays of Mrs. Gene Tosca and son, Gary.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Queniam Tosca, Dave Dunning, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Graham, Mrs. Jerry Trego and children, Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Gran and children, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Huston and Judy, Larry Beard, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Reese and family and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Tosca and family.

Chester Peters, East St., Ashville, captured third place honors Sunday in the State Amateur Horseshoe Tournament held at Sunshine Park in Columbus. He coped honors in the Championship Class and is eligible to participate in the National finals.

Guest ministers will be appearing in both the First English Lutheran Church and the Ashville Methodist Churches this Sunday while the churches' ministers are vacationing with their families.

James Von Schultz, a student at the Capital Seminary, will conduct the service at the Lutheran Church and Benis Lutz will fill the pulpit at the Methodist Church.

The Teays Valley Cadet Band, under the direction of William Pangburn, will appear at the Ohio State Fair on Aug. 29. Their concert is scheduled for 9:15 a. m. Also giving a concert at the state fair on Sunday will be the Junior High dance band appearing at the band shell at the main gate at 3:15 p. m.

Guaranteed Wage Rejected

Union Cool on Plan Offered by Timken

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—A guaranteed annual wage proposal by the Timken Roller Bearing Co. has been termed "inadequate in several respects" by a United Steelworkers of America official.

The offer, details of which were announced Tuesday, would guarantee a union-represented employee with at least two years of continuous service 32 hours of pay each week for 50 weeks.

That means an annual income guarantee to each employee covered of 1,600 times his average straight time hourly wage rate, the company said.

John S. Johns, USW District 27 director, said the union welcomed the company offer "as a first proposal across the bargaining table" but he added that it is "inadequate in several respects."

He said the level of guarantee should be 2,000 hours instead of the 1,600 hours proposed by the company.

"The union's negotiating committee also feels strongly that the guarantee to each employee should run for the full term of a guaranteed annual wage agreement or at least for a term consistent with an employee's seniority," Johns said.

"A one-year guarantee in a five-year agreement does not provide reasonable income security for most employees. The proposal has many other shortcomings."

The guaranteed wage proposal was made in bargaining on a new contract covering 9,000 employees at plants here and in Wooster and Columbus. The current two-year pact expires at midnight Friday.

Timken said no other company its size has ever offered a guaranteed annual wage.

"This plan and our other agreements have to last for five years in order to smooth out the ups and downs of business over a period of years," the company said. "This is the only way a guaranteed annual wage can work."

U.S., Britain Boost Alert

LONDON (AP)—Britain and the United States have agreed to step up their watch in the north Caribbean to prevent a repetition of Cuban raids in the Bahamas area, the Foreign Office said today.

A Foreign Office statement said consultations had taken place Aug. 17 at Nassau between the governor of the British-protected Caribbean island, Sir Robert Stapledon, the commander of the British naval forces stationed in the West Indies, and the admiral commanding U.S. Coast Guard units.

These consultations came after two Cuban naval vessels and a helicopter kidnaped a number of Cuban refugees from Anguilla Kay Island in the Bahamas archipelago Thursday.

Castro's Policy Is Big Boon For Australia Sugar Farmers

By ARTHUR SCHOLLES
Central Press Association
Correspondent

BRISBANE, Queensland, Australia—Boom prices and world demand for sugar have brought prosperity to the sugar farmers of this tropical state of Australia.

Ever since Cuba's Fidel Castro joined the Communist camp, and the United States severed economic ties with the Caribbean country, the sugar farmers of North Queensland have enjoyed increased prosperity.

Now Japan has agreed to buy between 350,000 and 450,000 tons of Australian sugar in each of the next three seasons.

Australia will deliver the sugar to Japan in 1965, 1966 and 1967. In each instance the year of delivery is a year later than the season of production.

Australia has already sold 330,000 tons of 1963 sugar to Japan for delivery next year. Price at which the sale has been negotiated has not been disclosed.

Total Australian export of raw from the 1962 crop (sent overseas in 1963) is estimated to be about 1.1 million tons.

Of this, the United Kingdom will take about 40 per cent, then come Japan, with Canada the third largest customer. The U. S. ranks fourth on the list of buyers of Australian sugar.

Until Castro joined the Communist bloc, Australia found it almost impossible to compete on the U. S. market against sugar from the Caribbean.

Today Queensland's 31 sugar mills are preparing to harvest the second highest crop in the state's history.

Norman King, secretary of the Sugar Experiment Stations, estimates the harvest at 12 million tons. From this harvest the sugar output is likely to approximate 1,760,000 tons.

This year the sugar industry in Queensland will strive to achieve higher efficiency and mechanization.

Tighter Butler County Relief Rules Upheld

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—The Butler County Commission has backed County Welfare Director Warren L. Harding in setting tight rules for hospital and medical bills of poor county residents. The commission said Tuesday that hospitalization will be cut to 10 days maximum, with not more than one renewal of 10 days, and bills stemming from brawls and shootings that may be aired in court will be rejected.

The commission earlier had decided only emergency cases could be considered for hospital attention since the county relief fund faces a possible $80,000 deficit.

Report of Equalizing Board Is Accepted by City Council

City Council last night adopted a resolution accepting a report submitted by an appointed equalizing board concerning assessments for Circleville's Sewer District No. 2.

The report centered on written objections filed by numerous property owners listed on the sewer district assessment rolls. The equalizing board formulated its report following a hearing in City Hall on July 24.

In tabulating its report, the board recommended reduced assessments in seven cases and increases in three others. Serving as equalizers were E. H. Marshall, Fred Watts and Leon Van Vleet, all disinterested city residents.

The suggested reductions, the equalizing board's reasoning and the amount of money are:

Ralph R. and Frances A. Haines, lot not in district and should be removed from assessment roll, $76.58.

George D. and Jane K. Speakman, three lots were assessed in Sewer District No. 1 and should be removed from roll, $150.32.

Donald H. Watt, evidence indicated part of land had been assessed in Sewer District No. 1, adjusted from $2,694.40 to $1,418.11. Wayne and Mabel Martin, reduction in benefitted acreage in view of depth of lots, $62.40.

Clayton and Emily Vaughan, reduction in benefitted area, $53.89. Roy and Olga Sherman, decrease in benefitted land due to tract having considerable space in low area of Hargus Creek, $161.66.

Walter and Doris Yamarick, evidence indicated lot had sufficient sewer before improvement to entitle decreased assessment, $677.18. 18.

Recommended increases were: Robert H. Huffer, in view of two services installed on lot and its present occupancy by two dwelling units, increased from $563.18 to $820.66.

Circleville Board of Education, in view that less land will be lost in development of the school site than in normal residential development, increased from $4,254.31 to $4,756.31.

The board also recommended that the City of Circleville's portion for relief trunk costs be increased by $1,840.66.

Mentally Defective Girls Attend Work-Study School

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — A strong awareness of time pervades a white-brick mansion which is the home of nine teenage girls engaged in a unique experiment.

With their first earnings, they bought watches, symbols of personal responsibility.

"I learn how to leave the house for work on time. That is very important," one girl wrote.

Such an accomplishment may not seem remarkable for girls of 17 and 18. But, while these girls are mature physically, their mental growth has stopped at 10 and 11. They are officially certified as mental defectives and have been institutionalized, on the average, for three years.

They comprise the second group to participate in a work-study pilot project being conducted through the Syracuse State School for Mental Defectives.

Participants are selected from the 275 female patients at the state school on the basis of age, comparatively high level of intelligence—average IQ 66—and emotional stability.

Dr. Jacob Schneider, director of the state school, said the project's purpose is "to prove we can get such girls out of the rut of domestic work, which has been the traditional outlet for them."

If the project proves successful, he said, it may be expanded to other communities, and such homes may be opened for young men.

Of the first group of six women, aged 19 to 27, five have been discharged and one continues under school supervision while employed in a cafeteria in her home community.

Of the five who were discharged,

two work in a cafeteria at Syracuse University, two are employed in hospital work here and one was a seamstress in a downtown department store until her recent marriage. All were placed in the jobs through the school.

Of the girls now at the home, two are department store stock girls, two are employed in a hospital, one works in a laundry and four work in a private workshop for the handicapped.

The girls have a strong desire to succeed—to "be accepted and to be like everyone else," Schneider said.

Since the school year ended, the girls have worked full-time. Before that, they spent half of the work day on the job and the other half at the home. There they received instructions in the basic subjects and in abilities needed on the job and in day-to-day living, such as making change, reading bus schedules, paying income taxes, banking and budgeting.

YESTERYEAR "MARCH" RECALLED—The big Aug. 28 civil rights demonstration in Washington recalls the last big "march on Washington," back in 1932 by the "Bonus Army" of World War I veterans demanding that Congress pass the soldiers' bonus bill. There were bitter clashes with Washington police (upper) and "parades" to Capitol (lower right). Troops were called out, under command of Chief of Staff Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who wipes away perspiration on the scene (lower left). His second in command stands with hand to chin, then Col. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Aug. 21, the 233rd day of 1963. There are 132 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1217, supporters of English King Henry III won the battle of Dover. They defeated the Barons' fleet led by the pirate chieftain known as Eustance the Monk.

On this date: In 1680, Pueblo Indians seized Santa Fe, N.M., after driving out Spanish troops.

In 1858, Abraham Lincoln and Stephen A. Douglas began their historic debates.

In 1941, Russian troops blew up the giant Dnieper Dam to prevent its capture by the Germans in World War II.

In 1945, President Truman ordered suspension of lend-lease operations following the end of World War II.

Ten years ago ... Prime Ministers Nehru of India and Mohammed Ali of Pakistan announced their agreement on plans to bring about a plebiscite in Kashmir to determine its future status.

Five years ago ... Denmark canceled a scheduled visit by the U.S. atomic submarine Skate on the ground that it would be a potential hazard.

One year ago ... Acting U.N. Secretary-General U Thant urged the Security Council to take a series of concrete steps to end the secession of Katanga Province from the Congo.

Solon Urges Soviet Trade

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, told the Senate Tuesday the United States should seize on any relaxation of tensions brought by the limited test ban treaty to inquire into trade with Russia.

Young called for action by the executive department to clear away the "red tape" he said is preventing the shipment of steel for non-military purposes to Russia and her satellites.

He said U.S. producers are being denied the opportunity to sell steel while U.S. allies are trading full blast with the Soviets.

Young said U.S. exports to Russia are at the rate of $35 million a year. In contrast, he said West Germany does a $500-million business with the Soviets annually, Great Britain, $335 million and France $267 million.

Mentally Defective Girls Attend Work-Study School

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — A strong awareness of time pervades a white-brick mansion which is the home of nine teenage girls engaged in a unique experiment.

With their first earnings, they bought watches, symbols of personal responsibility.

"I learn how to leave the house for work on time. That is very important," one girl wrote.

Such an accomplishment may not seem remarkable for girls of 17 and 18. But, while these girls are mature physically, their mental growth has stopped at 10 and 11. They are officially certified as mental defectives and have been institutionalized, on the average, for three years.

They comprise the second group to participate in a work-study pilot project being conducted through the Syracuse State School for Mental Defectives.

Participants are selected from the 275 female patients at the state school on the basis of age, comparatively high level of intelligence—average IQ 66—and emotional stability.

Dr. Jacob Schneider, director of the state school, said the project's purpose is "to prove we can get such girls out of the rut of domestic work, which has been the traditional outlet for them."

If the project proves successful, he said, it may be expanded to other communities, and such homes may be opened for young men.

Of the first group of six women, aged 19 to 27, five have been discharged and one continues under school supervision while employed in a cafeteria in her home community.

Of the five who were discharged,

two work in a cafeteria at Syracuse University, two are employed in hospital work here and one was a seamstress in a downtown department store until her recent marriage. All were placed in the jobs through the school.

Of the girls now at the home, two are department store stock girls, two are employed in a hospital, one works in a laundry and four work in a private workshop for the handicapped.

Since the school year ended, the girls have worked full-time. Before that, they spent half of the work day on the job and the other half at the home. There they received instructions in the basic subjects and in abilities needed on the job and in day-to-day living, such as making change, reading bus schedules, paying income taxes, banking and budgeting.

★★ OUR GIRLS HAVE PROVEN IT IS SO ★★

Are Beauty Contests Sometimes Fakes?

By JAMES H. WINCHESTER
Central Press Association
Correspondent

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. — Everyone agrees that the annual "Miss America" Pageant, as well as other major beauty contests, have too much at stake today to become involved in scandal.

That hasn't always been the case. All too often, the girls have turned out to be representing themselves as something they are not. A typical rumpus occurred here in the 1933 "Miss America" contest. Florence Weiner, who was "Miss Philadelphia," turned out to be a divorcee, and when her runner-up, Catherine Craig, was given the title it turned out that she, too, had eloped, although her marriage was in the process of being annulled.

In the finals, four other girls were bounced because of misrepresentations, among them "Miss Illinois," who, it turned out, actually came from Missouri. The title that year went to Marion Bergeron, of West Haven, Conn., then turned out she was only 15, although the minimum age was 16 years. It's since been raised to 18 years.

A less upsetting but equally heated controversy occurred in the 1952 "Miss America" contest, when blond Mrs. Penny Duncan was named the winner. Some of the judges screamed, "No!" and at least one walked out. Mrs. Duncan saved her crown by going backstage with a female reporter and proving she had not — as had been charged — been wearing falsies.

The "Miss Universe" contest has been the scene of several heated rumpuses. In 1956, Latin American contestants staged a sit-down strike. They protested because, although six girls from south of the border were among the 15 semifinalists, none was named among the six finalists.

Outright scandal is rare in contemporary contests, particularly on a national level. It may be that judges in small, local go-rounds can be influenced, but as a rule such a project isn't feasible. For one thing, there are usually just too many judges.

It's true enough, though, that sometimes an unhappy choice of contestants is made. A few years ago, knowing New Yorkers were amused to see, in the photographs of the contestants for a very big

Taft Asks Finance Data On All Congressmen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, has introduced a resolution which would require House members to file annual financial reports. The proposal calls for each representative to disclose his income from all sources the preceding year, and the holdings, debts, loans and investments of himself and his immediate family as of the preceding Dec. 31.

Taft also proposed an ethics committee of congressmen "with power to require disclosures in confidence" as probably "the best type of safeguard against conflict-of-interest."

and very important beauty contest, the shining faces of two of Manhattan's best-loved call girls.

A Canadian promoter tripped most embarrassingly over a similar hurdle. He was sponsoring a contest for the province of Quebec, and he was surprised one morning to find rogues' gallery photographs of two of the leading entrants, "Miss Montreal" and "Miss Quebec City," in the local newspapers.

"Miss Montreal," it seemed, had been pinched 10 times in two years as an occupant of disorderly houses, and "Miss Quebec City" was a four-time loser on charges of vagrancy and loitering.

One veteran beauty contest promoter, Lloyd Butler, of Miami, said a few years ago that he thought all beauty contests should be forbidden by law. "Most contests are fakes," he charged.

Another long-time impresario, Ted Ramsay, doubts, however, that any big time contests are crooked. Ramsay was in charge of Miami's publicity during the 1930s, and the "Miss Florida" contest, at least, he says, was never fixed.

"I know," Ramsay says, "because one year I tried to talk the judges into favoring a girl friend of mine. She wound up not getting so much as a mention."

"On the other hand, I never had any trouble getting contestants. I had a card index with the names of 363 local girls — every one of them lovely."

"When I started a contest, I'd just get out the cards, make a representative selection to make sure I'd have all types, and tell them where and where to report. After that, it was up to the judges. You didn't have to fix the contest — all the girls were out of one stable anyway."

Pentagon Asks Restoration Of Arms Fund

WASHINGTON (AP)—Top Pentagon civilian and military leaders say that restoring funds cut from the pending military approriation bill would show the world that signing of the limited nuclear test ban treaty does not mean a let-down in the American defense effort.

Minster Pilot Killed In Air Force Mishap

ROME, N.Y. (AP)—An airplane accident at Griffiss Air Force Base has killed a pilot whose mother lives in Auglaize County, Ohio, and his radar observer. Victims of Tuesday's mishap were 1st Lt. James A. Brandewie, 27, son of Mrs. Urban Brandewie of Minster, Ohio, and 1st Lt. William B. Foust of Powell, Tenn.

Deputy Secretary of Defense Roswell L. Gilpatric told a Senate Appropriations subcommittee, in referring to the treaty, that "clearly this is not the time to relax our defense effort, to stretch out needed defense programs or to delay essential defense legislation."

The House has made multimillion dollar cuts in the administration's proposal for fiscal 1964 military spending. The bill now is before the Senate subcommittee. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, followed Gilpatric to the witness stand.

Florence Weiner, who was "Miss Philadelphia," turned out to be a divorcee, and when her runner-up, Catherine Craig, was given the title it turned out that she, too, had eloped, although her marriage was in the process of being annulled.

In the finals, four other girls were bounced because of misrepresentations, among them "Miss Illinois," who, it turned out, actually came from Missouri. The title that year went to Marion Bergeron, of West Haven, Conn., then a turned out she was only 15, although the minimum age was 16 years. It's since been raised to 18 years.

Other sparks were thrown off when the aunt of one of the runners-up was arrested and charged with hitting the sister of another girl, who'd been eliminated.

A less upsetting but equally heated controversy occurred in the 1952 "Miss America" contest, when blond Mrs. Penny Duncan was named the winner. Some of the judges screamed, "No!" and at least one walked out. Mrs. Duncan saved her crown by going backstage with a female reporter and proving she had not — as had been charged — been wearing falsies.

The "Miss Universe" contest has been the scene of several heated rumpuses. In 1956, Latin American contestants staged a sit-down strike. They protested because, although six girls from south of the border were among the 15 semi-finalists, none was named among the six finalists.

Outright scandal is rare in contemporary contests, particularly on a national level. It may be that judges in small, local go-rounds can be influenced, but as a rule such a project isn't feasible. For one thing, there are usually just too many judges.

It's true enough, though, that sometimes an unhappy choice of contestants is made. A few years ago, knowing New Yorkers were amused to see, in the photographs of the contestants for a very big

Taft Asks Finance Data On All Congressmen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, has introduced a resolution which would require House members to file annual financial reports. The proposal calls for each representative to disclose his income from all sources the preceding year, and the holdings, debts, loans and investments of himself and his immediate family as of the preceding Dec. 31.

and very important beauty contest, the shining faces of two of Manhattan's best-loved call girls.

A Canadian promoter tripped most embarrassingly over a similar hurdle. He was sponsoring a contest for the province of Quebec, and he was surprised one morning to find rogues' gallery photographs of two of the leading entrants, "Miss Montreal" and "Miss Quebec City," in the local newspapers.

"Miss Montreal," it seemed, had been pinched 10 times in two years as an occupant of disorderly houses, and "Miss Quebec City" was a four-time loser on charges of vagrancy and loitering.

One veteran beauty contest promoter, Lloyd Butler, of Miami, said a few years ago that he thought all beauty contests should be forbidden by law. "Most contests are fakes," he charged.

Another long-time impresario, Ted Ramsay, doubts, however, that any big time contests are crooked. Ramsay was in charge of Miami's publicity during the 1930s, and the "Miss Florida" contest, at least, he says, was never fixed.

"I know," Ramsay says, "because one year I tried to talk the judges into favoring a girl friend of mine. She wound up not getting so much as a mention."

"On the other hand, I never had any trouble getting contestants. I had a card index with the names of 363 local girls — every one of them lovely."

"When I started a contest, I'd just get out the cards, make a representative selection to make sure I'd have all types, and tell them when and where to report. After that, it was up to the judges. You didn't have to fix the contest — all the girls were out of one stable anyway."

Pentagon Asks Restoration Of Arms Fund

WASHINGTON (AP)—Top Pentagon civilian and military leaders say that restoring funds cut from the pending military appropriation bill would show the world that signing of the limited nuclear test ban treaty does not mean a let-down in the American defense effort.

Minster Pilot Killed In Air Force Mishap

ROME, N.Y. (AP)—An airplane accident at Griffiss Air Force Base has killed a pilot whose mother lives in Auglaize County, Ohio, and his radar observer. Victims of Tuesday's mishap were 1st Lt. James A. Brandewie, 27, son of Mrs. Urban Brandewie of Minster, Ohio, and 1st Lt. William B. Foust of Powell, Tenn.

Deputy Secretary of Defense Roswell L. Gilpatric told a Senate Appropriations subcommittee, in referring to the treaty, that "clearly this is not the time to relax our defense effort, to stretch out needed defense programs or to delay essential defense legislation."

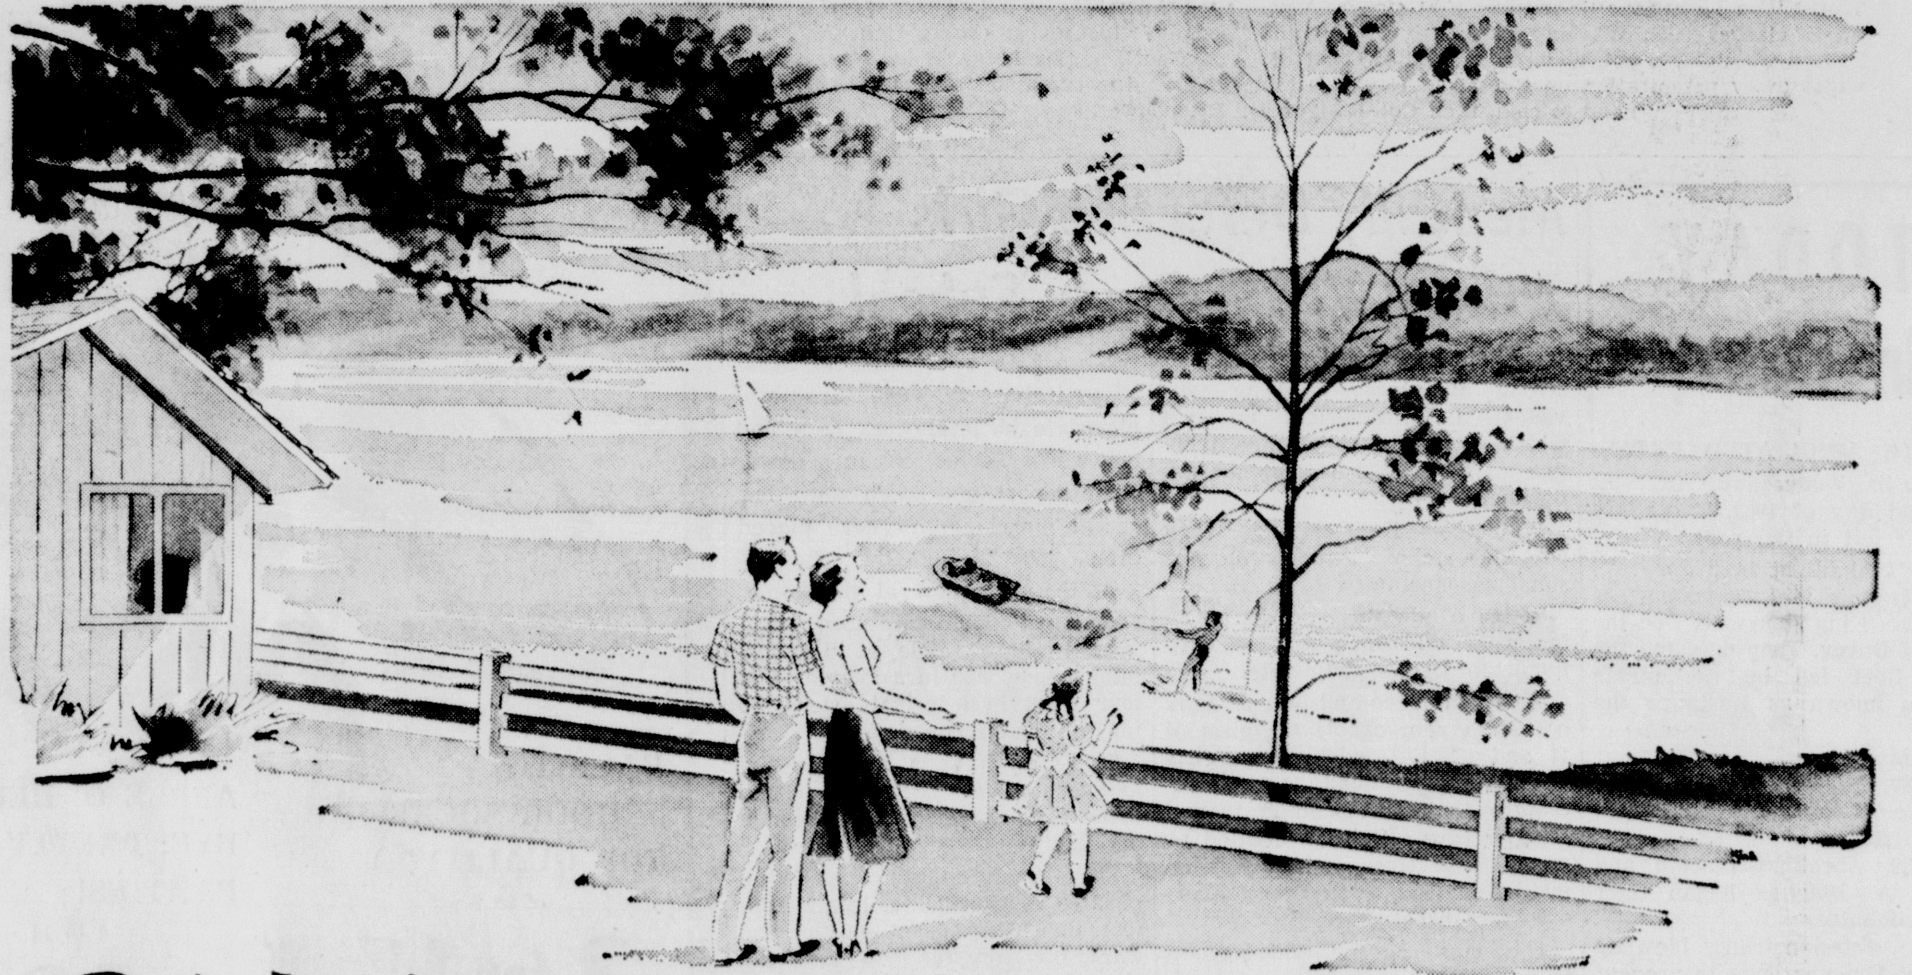

The House has made multimillion dollar cuts in the administration's proposal for fiscal 1964 military spending. The bill now is before the Senate subcommittee. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, followed Gilpatric to the witness stand.

Rural-Urban Meet Attended by 70 Women from Area

AT RURAL URBAN LUNCHEON — These ladies participated in the annual Farm Bureau Rural-Urban Luncheon yesterday at the Fairgrounds. From the left they are: Mary Clark, chairman of the Farm Bureau Women's Committee; Litta K. Roberson, director of Women's Activities for the Ohio Farm Bureau; and Mrs. Herbert Thomas, an urban guest. Here they are looking at a copy of the Southeast Region Women's Rally program scheduled Sept. 30 at Lithopolis.

The atmosphere was bright and cheerful as 70 ladies of rural and urban Pickaway County enjoyed the Annual Farm Bureau Rural-Urban Luncheon, sponsored by the Farm Bureau Women's Committee Tuesday afternoon at the Fairgrounds 4-H and Grange Building.

Lewis Hay, trustee of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, launched the program by speaking briefly on the importance of having activities that bring together rural and urban people. "Through such activities we are able to bring about better relations between the town and country people," he said.

Spotlighting the afternoon was Mrs. Litta K. Roberson, director of Women's Activities, Ohio Farm Bureau Federation. She spoke on numerous topics, intermingling her home spun humor. She began by telling that she was among friends due to the fact that she spoke in the county several years ago.

She related numerous agricultural facts of interest. She said in the past 10 years food cost per family has risen $243 per year. Of this $130 goes for labor, handling and processing; $73 for packaging and advertisement; $23 for transportation, $4 for governmental tax and only $3 to the farmer, Mrs. Roberson claimed.

SHE TOLD of how the farm population is on the decrease in Ohio. "In 1940 Ohio had one million farmers, in 1950, 853,000, and in 1960, just 675,000," she said. Mrs. Roberson explained that these 675,000 farmers have one third the number of cows as in 1940, but produce one third more milk.

Continuing to speak in the area of farm problems she disclosed that today the farmer receives just 2.6 cents of each loaf of bread.

Sinatra Kids Go It Alone

Son, Daughter Shun Influence from Dad

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—If there is to be a Sinatra dynasty in show business, the second generation aims to make it on their own.

Frank Sinatra Jr., is fiercely independent, though loyal to his famous sire. So are daughter Nancy and her husband, singer Tommy Sands.

This week Nancy was appearing in a movie made by her father's company, "For Those Who Think Young." She said she almost didn't take the job.

Nancy said she went to producer Hugh Benson and asked him point-blank: "Are you giving me this part because I am Frank Sinatra's daughter? If so, I don't want it."

Benson replied: "Look, I've met your father three times and know him enough to say, 'Hello, Frank.' That's all. I picked you because I liked the way you read for a part for me once (she didn't get the job) and because you have a good touch with comedy."

Nancy sighed: "I know what people are going to say: That I got the part through my father's influence. Well, it's not that easy. You still have to produce. Children of famous people may get an initial break through their names, but then they must prove themselves or nothing happens to them."

Nancy said she operates on this basis: If she can win a part on her ability, she's satisfied. She did just that for a role on "The Virginian" television series recently. Frank Jr. believes the same. He has turned down more lucrative offers to get his seasoning as a singer with the Tommy Dorsey band, as his daddy did.

"Reprise (the Sinatra record firm) would love to have Frank do an album," reported his sister. "But he won't do it until he's ready for it."

Sands won the part of the elder Frank's kid brother in "Come Blow Your Horn," but then declined it for fear of nepotism. He didn't take his current role in "Ensign Pulver" until he was sure he had won it on his own.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

Heavy fog formed over Ohio Tuesday under clear skies. By dawn today the visibility was down to zero over most of the state.

At sunrise, temperatures ranged from 50 at Youngstown and Dayton to 63 at Chesapeake.

Most of the day was forecast to be sunny and warmer with mid-afternoon temperatures rising into the upper 70s north and the low 80s south. Winds today will be light and variable.

Thursday will also be fair and warm over Ohio.

OHIO FIVE DAY FORECASTS

NORTHERN OHIO — Temperatures will average two to four degrees above normal. Normal high 79-81, normal low 57-63. Rising temperatures through Thursday, a little cooler Friday and Saturday, warmer Sunday and Monday. Rainfall will average one-half to three-fourths of an inch in scattered showers late Thursday and Friday, again Monday.

SOUTHERN & CENTRAL OHIO—Temperatures will average two to four degrees above normal. Normal high 82-85, normal low 60-64. Warmer through Thursday, cooler Friday and Saturday. Rainfall will average one-half to one inch central and one-fourth to one-half inch south in showers toward end of week.

Taxi Kills Youngster

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—A taxicab backing out of a driveway ran over and killed 18-month-old Beverly Higginbottom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Higginbottom, near her home Tuesday night.

Once-Powerful Molotov Is Quiet Now

MOSCOW (AP) — A little man with aluminum gray eyes and a black mustache got out of a big car at Berlin's Reich Chancellery in 1940 and was whisked into an important conference with Adolf Hitler. This honored guest was Vyacheslav Molotov, Soviet foreign minister and right-hand man of Stalin.

Where is he today?

On extremely rare occasions, a little man with aluminum gray eyes and a gray-white mustache strolls with his wife in a park, not noticed, not wanting to be noticed.

That happens to those who lose out in the Soviet Union.

Molotov, 72, lost out in one of the most dramatic struggles of Soviet history. In 1957, four years after Stalin died, he made the mistake of trying to drive out of power a rising man named Nikita Khrushchev.

Molotov, who for over a quarter of a century was one of the big figures in shaping the government and foreign policy of the Soviet Union was named Soviet ambassador to Mongolia. Later he was transferred to Vienna as representative to an international committee dealing with peaceful uses of atomic energy.

It was a letdown for a man who had traded cold stares and colder words with the great of the world — Eisenhower, Truman, Churchill, Ernest Bevin, Dulles, Gen. Marshall.

In 1961, when Khrushchev met President Kennedy in Vienna, there was a great lineup of Russians as the train came in from Moscow. At the head of the line were Austrian officials, the Soviet ambassador, and embassy personnel. Far down the line, among the junior clerks, stood the strangely withered little man whose cold "nyet" played a major role in driving Western nations into a defensive alliance against communism.

Khrushchev shook hands with

Molotov, exchanged a few quiet words on a suddenly hushed station platform, and went on.

Four months later, Khrushchev felt that the old Stalin group needed another going over in a revived attack on the "cult of personality."

In the congress of the Soviet party, Molotov and his associates were denounced again. Scores of murders were attributed to them.

In November, a month after the congress closed, he returned to Moscow by train. Only the secret police, his daughter and Western newsmen met him. His daughter led him and Mrs. Molotov to a car.

in the Soviet press.

There has been no report that Molotov was pensioned, but doubtless he has been. He and his wife evidently live with their daughter and her husband in an apartment not far from the foreign office.

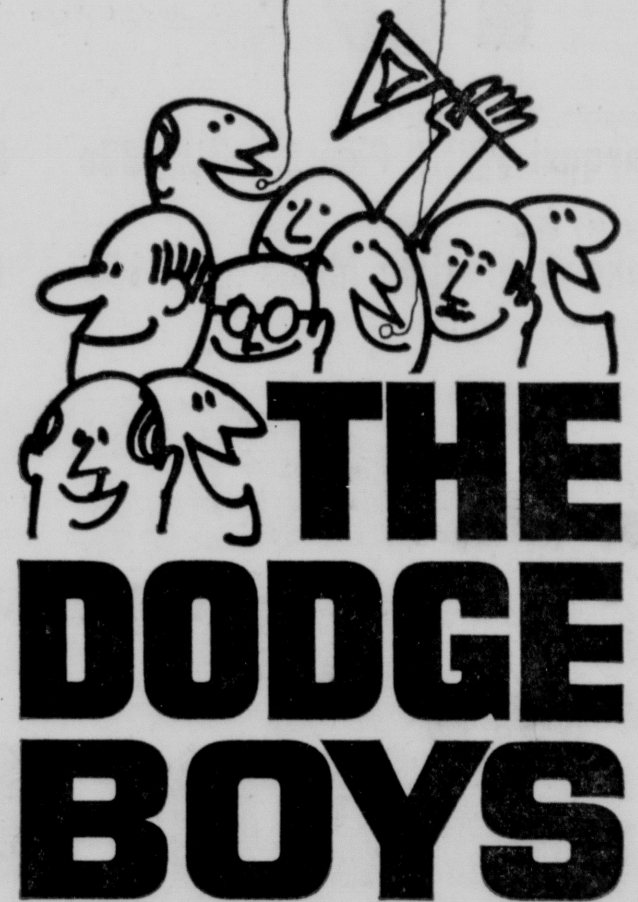

He can't travel abroad, nor apparently even in the Soviet Union. It is not known publicly what he does.

HE RETIRED JUST IN TIME—Retired and pastured near Middlefield, Ohio, a horse watches strange goings-on—a truck hauling a house. Not too long ago horses did such things.

Rising temperatures through Thursday, a little cooler Friday and Saturday, warmer Sunday and Monday. Rainfall will average one-half to three-fourths of an inch in scattered showers late Thursday and Friday, again Monday.

SOUTHERN & CENTRAL OHIO—Temperatures will average two to four degrees above normal. Normal high 82-85, normal low 60-64. Warmer through Thursday, cooler Friday and Saturday. Rainfall will average one-half to one inch central and one-fourth to one-half inch south in showers toward end of week.

Taxi Kills Youngster

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—A taxicab backing out of a driveway ran over and killed 18-month-old Beverly Higginbottom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Higginbottom, near her home Tuesday night.

Once-Powerful Molotov Is Quiet Now

MOSCOW (AP)—A little man with aluminum gray eyes and a black mustache got out of a big car at Berlin's Reichschancellery in 1940 and was whisked into an important conference with Adolf Hitler. This honored guest was Vyacheslav Molotov, Soviet foreign minister and right-hand man of Stalin.

Where is he today? On extremely rare occasions, a little man with aluminum gray eyes and a gray-white mustache strolls with his wife in a park, not noticed, not wanting to be noticed.

That happens to those who lose out in the Soviet Union. Molotov, 72, lost out in one of the most dramatic struggles of Soviet history. In 1957, four years after Stalin died, he made the mistake of trying to drive out of power a rising man named Nikita Khrushchev.

Molotov, who for over a quarter of a century was one of the big figures in shaping the government and foreign policy of the Soviet Union was named Soviet ambassador to Mongolia. Later he was transferred to Vienna as representative to an international committee dealing with peaceful uses of atomic energy.

It was a letdown for a man who had traded cold stares and colder words with the great of the world—Eisenhower, Truman, Churchill, Ernest Bevin, Dulles, Gen. Marshall.

In 1961, when Khrushchev met President Kennedy in Vienna, there was a great lineup of Russians as the train came in from Moscow. At the head of the line were Austrian officials, the Soviet ambassador, and embassy personnel. Far down the line, among the junior clerks, stood the strangely withered little man whose cold "nyet" played a major role in driving Western nations into a defensive alliance against communism.

Khrushchev shook hands with Molotov, exchanged a few quiet words on a suddenly hushed station platform, and went on.

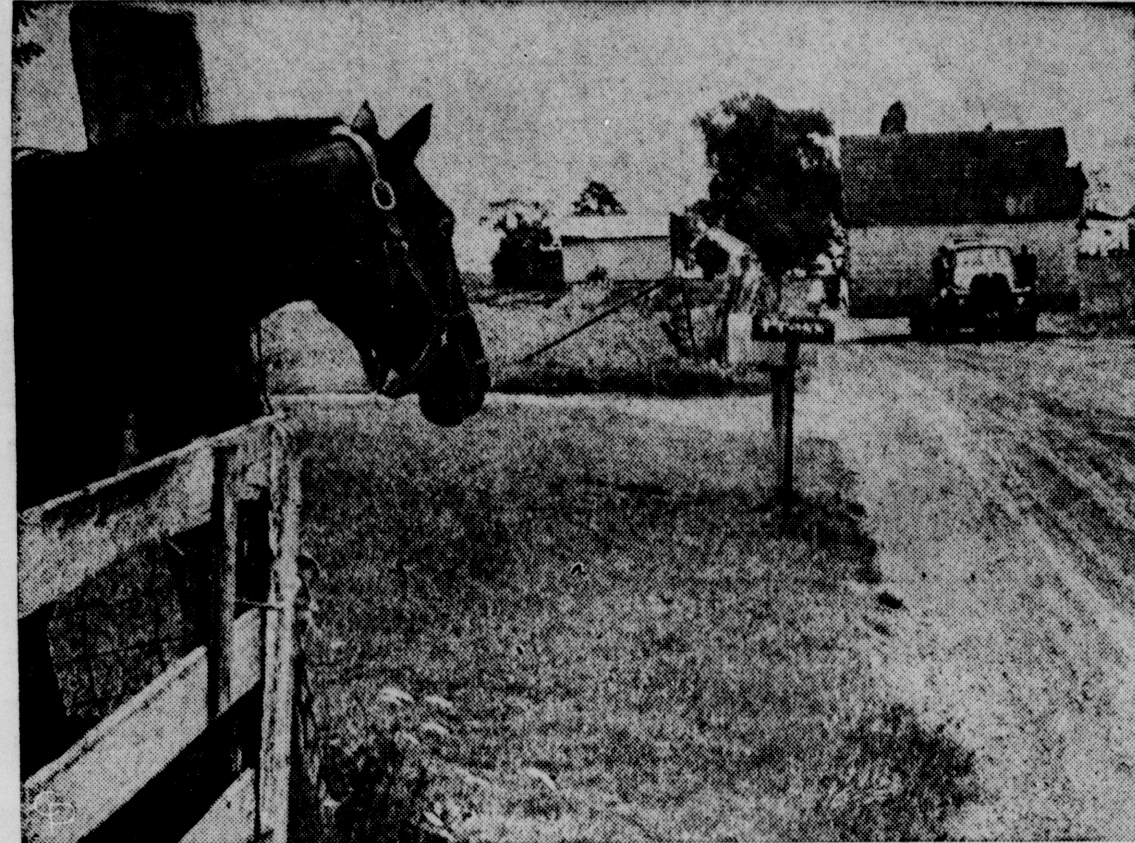

Four months later, Khrushchev felt that the old Stalin group needed another going over in a revived attack on the "cult of personality." In the congress of the Soviet party, Molotov and his associates were denounced again. Scores of murders were attributed to them. In November, a month after the congress closed, he returned to Moscow by train. Only the secret police, his daughter and Western newsmen met him. His daughter led him and Mrs. Molotov to a car.

A year ago Western reporters discovered he was in a hospital with grippe. Not a word of it was in the Soviet press. There has been no report that Molotov was pensioned, but doubtless he has been. He and his wife evidently live with their daughter and her husband in an apartment not far from the foreign office.

He can't travel abroad, nor apparently even in the Soviet Union. It is not known publicly what he does.

HE RETIRED JUST IN TIME—Retired and pastured near Middlefield, Ohio, a horse watches strange goings-on—a truck hauling a house. Not too long ago horses did such things.

Mrs. Paul Smallwood is shown here with D. E. McDonald, owner of Mac's Tire and Appliance Store as she draws the winning card of Mrs. Ralph Dunkle. Mrs. Dunkle won the 12 foot Whirlpool icemaker refrigerator shown in the picture.

Starr Heads 1963 Edition of Tiger Coaching Staff

By STEVE JONES

The 1963 Circleville High School Football team will be inaugurating a slightly different system of football this season under new head coach Paul Starr.

Another new member on the staff is Kent Carpenter, a native of Wheeling, W. Va. Other varsity staff mentors are Dick Fisher and Jim Lint.

Bill Mosure again heads the reserve and freshman teams. Jim Shaw will guide the junior high units.

Starr is a native of West Virginia where he attended Parkersburg High, the largest school in that state. He was graduated from the University of West Virginia where he was a grid teammate of Ralph Starkey, Pickaway County juvenile probation officer.

They rolled to one state championship and were twice runnerup in Class AAA competition.

Starr, 32, is married and the father of three children, he is a captain in the Army Reserve and served two years active duty following his graduation from College.

He is a firm believer in fundamental football and feels good physical condition wins more football games than any other single factor.

Starr replaces Carl Benhase who guided Circleville High School to a perfect season last year. During Benhase's term as head coach, the Tigers won 27 games, lost 10 and tied two.

The new head coach gives much credit to his present staff.

"They (the assistant coaches) have just been wonderful so far and any success we have this year will have to be credited to them," Starr said yesterday. "I really don't know what I would have done without them so far."

RETURNING from last year's varsity staff are Dick Fisher and Jim Lint.

Fisher is the backfield coach. While at Circleville he has produced such outstanding stars as Larry Hannahs, currently a member of the Iowa State University grid team, and Archie Ward, both All-South Central Ohio League players.

Last year's backfield, termed the "Fantastic Four" by the coaching staff, included All-Ohio, Garold Dade, Dave Hannahs, Freddie Moore and Duke Efyfe. Dave Hannahs was granted a full scholarship to the University of Toledo.

Fisher is a graduate of Hilliard High School and Capital University. He served in the Navy for two years. Besides serving as assistant football coach here, in 1962 he guided the Circleville High baseball team to a district championship. He is also a guidance counselor.

Jim Lint, the tackle and end mentor, has the unusual distinction of coaching a high school All-American candidate. Clesson Thomas the rugged defensive end and offensive tackle of last year's squad, was accorded prep All-American honors.

Lint is a graduate of Tuscarawas-Warwick High School and Ashland College. He played tackle on the Ashland grid team.

HE STARTED his coaching-teaching career at Circleville in 1959. Other top players he has coached include Vern Reichmanis, currently playing tackle at the University of Toledo, and all-SCO selection Keith Thomerson.

Rounding out the varsity staff is

New Suburban League Plans Nearly Complete

Teays Valley, Three Franklin County Schools Form Loop

Russell Gregg, athletic director at Teays Valley High School, reported plans for formation of the South Suburban League are being finalized.

According to Gregg, the four schools originally instrumental in the new league have decided to definitely commit themselves to the planned athletic circuit.

Loop competition will begin in the 1964-65 school year.

The schools are Teays Valley, Hamilton Twp., Pleasant View and Franklin Heights. The latter two are currently members of the South Central Ohio League, although they have already served notice of their intentions of withdrawing in the 1964-65 school year.

GREGG said the schools are ready to go as a four-team league. He feels once the loop is officially formed other area schools will enter.

He indicated that a few interested schools are adopting a "wait and see" attitude.

Teays Valley High School was a member of the Darby Valley League last year, but will play an independent schedule this year in all athletics.

Early plans for the league were initiated at the beginning of the year. However, at one time late in the spring, it appeared the loop might fail before it ever began. It apparently did not have the full support of Franklin County School officials at that time.

Hoosiers Win Slot In Legion Finals

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—Evansville, Ind., carries a season record of 49 victories in 58 games into the American Legion baseball finals at Keene, N.H., after winning the Region 5 crown here Tuesday.

The Hoosiers won five games without a loss in the seven-team regional, winding it up by beating Kenosha, Wis., 4-2.

Kent Carpenter, a recent graduate of West Virginia Wesleyan at Buckhannon. He lettered there as a guard four years.

He was a graduate of Wheeling Warwood High School where he was also a four-year letterman. This is his first coaching position.

Other members of the staff are Bill Mosure, reserve mentor, and Jim Shaw, junior high coach.

Mosure is serving his second year as reserve mentor. He is a graduate of Columbus East High School.

His previous experience includes five years in Henry and Wood counties in head basketball and baseball positions and assistant basketball and football coach at Mentor High School.

SHAW is a graduate of Northwestern High School in Union County. He received his bachelor's degree from Rio Grande College after playing tackle and guard on Air Force teams from 1949 to 1953. This is his third season at Circleville. From 1958 to 1960 he taught and coached basketball at Atlanta High School.

Arnie, Jackie Set Sights On $89,000

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Those bristling golf duels between Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus take on added glitter the next three weeks with one or the other having a chance to win $89,000.

Palmer qualified for the $75,000 World Series of Golf when he smacked down Phil Rodgers and Jacky Cupit on Tuesday in a three-man playoff. Palmer shot an impressive one-under-par 69 over the Firestone Country Club's massive 7,165 yards, which played unusually long because of recent rains.

Rodgers had a 37-37-74, and Cupit 38-38-76, while Palmer came in with 34-35, nailing two birdies and straying from par only once.

Palmer will defend his American Golf Classic title here beginning Thursday, and the No. 1 challenger will be Nicklaus. The $50,000 Classic, drawing a field of 92 including some of the country's top amateurs, has a first-place prize of $9,000, with an additional $5,000 in bonuses.

Should either Palmer or Nicklaus win the Classic and its bonus money, the winner will be in position for the $89,000 sweep.

Donovan Clips Yankees with 2-1 Decision

NEW YORK (AP) — Tuesday night was quite a night for the Cleveland Indians and Dick Donovan.

—The Indians edged the New York Yankees 2-1, with a bases-loaded single by Vic Davaillo driving in the winning run in the ninth inning.

—Donovan (9-10) won his third straight game, beating the Yanks for the second time in five decisions this season. He has allowed only one run in the last 29 innings.

—The runaway league-leaders loaded the bases with one out in a comeback rally in their half of the ninth, but Donovan got Yogi Berra, an old pro clutch hitter, to bang into a game-ending double play.

—Whitely Ford (17-7) was tagged with the loss in a tight duel after beating the Indians three times this season. Three double plays were a big help to him and he wriggled out of bases-loaded jams in the seventh and eighth innings.

—Cleveland now has won three straight and owns fifth place all by itself. The Indians have a chance to add to their streak in

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — If Sonny Liston wants to get close to Cassius Clay anytime soon it looks like he'll have to go to the movies. Clay says there are ideas for a film on him but there are no plans for a title fight with the heavyweight champion.

Negotiations for a bout between the Louisville Lip and Liston "have completely broken down," said Clay's manager, Bill Faversham. "That includes plans for 1964 as well as this year."

NEW YORK (AP)—A scheduled American Football League exhibition game between the Oakland Raiders and New York Jets at Mobile, Ala., Friday night has been switched to Oakland on Sunday because of a controversy over segregated seating.

Bill Mosure again heads the reserve and freshman teams. Jim Shaw will guide the junior high units.

Starr is a native of West Virginia where he attended Parkersburg High, the largest school in that state. He was graduated from the University of West Virginia where he was a grid teammate of Ralph Starkey, Pickaway County juvenile probation officer.

UNTIL accepting the position as head coach here, he served as top assistant and line coach for the "Big Red." During his tenure at Parkersburg, grid teams there won 51, lost nine and tied three.

They rolled to one state championship and were twice runnerup in Class AAA competition.

Starr, 32, is married and the father of three children, he is a captain in the Army Reserve and served two years active duty following his graduation from College.

He is a firm believer in fundamental football and feels good physical condition wins more football games than any other single factor.

Starr replaces Carl Benhase who guided Circleville High School to a perfect season last year. During Benhase's term as head coach, the Tigers won 27 games, lost 10 and tied two.

The new head coach gives much credit to his present staff.

"They (the assistant coaches) have just been wonderful so far and any success we have this year will have to be credited to them," Starr said yesterday. "I really don't know what I would have done without them so far."

RETURNING from last year's varsity staff are Dick Fisher and Jim Lint.

Fisher is the backfield coach. While at Circleville he has produced such outstanding stars as Larry Hannans, currently a member of the Iowa State University grid team, and Archie Ward, both All-South Central Ohio League players.

Last year's backfield, termed the "Fantastic Four" by the coaching staff, included All-Ohio, Garold Dade, Dave Hannans, Freddie Moore and Duke Fyffe. Dave Hannans was granted a full scholarship to the University of Toledo.

Fisher is a graduate of Hilliard High School and Capital University. He served in the Navy for two years. Besides serving as assistant football coach here, in 1962 he guided the Circleville High baseball team to a district championship. He is also a guidance counselor.

Jim Lint, the tackle and end mentor, has the unusual distinction of coaching a high school All-American candidate. Cleson Thomas the rugged defensive end and offensive tackle of last year's squad, was accorded prep All-American honors.

Lint is a graduate of Tuscarawas-Warwick High School and Ashland College. He played tackle on the Ashland grid team.

HE STARTED his coaching-teaching career at Circleville in 1959. Other top players he has coached include Vern Reichmanis, currently playing tackle at the University of Toledo, and all-SCO selection Keith Thomerson.

Rounding out the varsity staff is

New Suburban League Plans Nearly Complete

Teays Valley, Three Franklin County Schools Form Loop

Russell Gregg, athletic director at Teays Valley High School, reported plans for formation of the South Suburban League are being finalized.

According to Gregg, the four schools originally instrumental in the new league have decided to definitely commit themselves to the planned athletic circuit.

Loop competition will begin in the 1964-65 school year.

The schools are Teays Valley, Hamilton Twp., Pleasant View and Franklin Heights. The latter two are currently members of the South Central Ohio League, although they have already served notice of their intentions of withdrawing in the 1964-65 school year.

GREGG said the schools are ready to go as a four-team league. He feels once the loop is officially formed other area schools will enter.

He indicated that a few interested schools are adopting a "wait and see" attitude.

Teays Valley High School was a member of the Darby Valley League last year, but will play an independent schedule this year in all athletics.

Early plans for the league were initiated at the beginning of the year. However, at one time late in the spring, it appeared the loop might fail before it ever began. It apparently did not have the full support of Franklin County School officials at that time.

Hoosiers Win Slot In Legion Finals

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—Evansville, Ind., carries a season record of 49 victories in 58 games into the American Legion baseball finals at Keene, N.H., after winning the Region 5 crown here Tuesday.

The Hoosiers won five games without a loss in the seven-team regional, winding it up by beating Kenosha, Wis., 4-2.

Kent Carpenter, a recent graduate of West Virginia Wesleyan at Buckhannon, He lettered there as a guard four years.

He was a graduate of Wheeling Warwood High School where he was also a four-year letterman. This is his first coaching position.

Other members of the staff are Bill Mosure, reserve mentor, and Jim Shaw, junior high coach.

Mosure is serving his second year as reserve mentor. He is a graduate of Columbus East High School.

His previous experience includes five years in Henry and Wood counties in head basketball and baseball positions and assistant basketball and football coach at Mentor High School.

SHAW is a graduate of Northwestern High School in Union County. He received his bachelor's degree from Rio Grande College after playing tackle and guard on Air Force teams from 1949 to 1953. This is his third season at Circleville. From 1958 to 1960 he taught and coached basketball at Atlanta High School.

Arnie, Jackie Set Sights On $89,000

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Those bristling golf duels between Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus take on added glitter the next three weeks with one or the other having a chance to win $89,000.

Palmer qualified for the $75,000 World Series of Golf when he smacked down Phil Rodgers and Jacky Cupit on Tuesday in a three-man playoff. Palmer shot an impressive one-under-par 69 over the Firestone Country Club's massive 7,165 yards, which played unusually long because of recent rains.

Rodgers had a 37-37-74, and Cupit 38-38-76, while Palmer came in with 34-35, nailing two birdies and straying from par only once.

Palmer will defend his American Golf Classic title here beginning Thursday, and the No. 1 challenger will be Nicklaus. The $50,000 Classic, drawing a field of 92 including some of the country's top amateurs, has a first-place prize of $9,000, with an additional $5,000 in bonuses.

Should either Palmer or Nicklaus win the Classic and its bonus money, the winner will be in position for the $89,000 sweep.

After the classic, the twosome

Ohio Women Dropped From Golf Tournament

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass. (AP) — Ohio's last hopes in the Women's National Amateur Golf Championship evaporated in Tuesday's second round as all three Buckeye contestants lost.

Terry Marinaro, Fresno, Calif., defeated Maggie Martin, St. Clairsville, 6 and 4; Mary Lowell, Hayward, Calif., shelved Mrs. Frank Stranahan, Toledo, 6 and 5, and Doris Phillips, Belleville, Ill., ousted Rene Powell, East Canton, 2 and 1.

Cornell has had only five football coaches in the past 43 years.

will hook up with Gary Player in a $50,000 exhibition in Waukegan, Ill., for a top prize of $25,000 before returning to Firestone for the World Series on Sept. 7-8, which will pay the winner $50,000.

Donovan Clips Yankees with 2-1 Decision

NEW YORK (AP) — Tuesday night was quite a night for the Cleveland Indians and Dick Donovan:

—The Indians edged the New York Yankees 2-1, with a bases-loaded single by Vic Davalillo driving in the winning run in the ninth inning.

—Donovan (9-10) won his third straight game, beating the Yanks for the second time in five decisions this season. He has allowed only one run in the last 29 innings.

—The runaway league-leaders loaded the bases with one out in a comeback rally in their half of the ninth, but Donovan got Yogi Berra, an old pro clutch hitter, to bang into a game-ending double play.

—Whitey Ford (17-7) was tagged with the loss in a tight duel after beating the Indians three times this season. Three double plays were a big help to him and he wriggled out of bases-loaded jams in the seventh and eighth innings.

—Cleveland now has won three straight and owns fifth place all by itself. The Indians have a chance to add to their streak in

SPORTS Highlights

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — If Sonny Liston wants to get close to Cassius Clay anytime soon it looks like he'll have to go to the movies. Clay says there are ideas for a film on him but there are no plans for a title fight with the heavyweight champion.

Negotiations for a bout between the Louisville Lip and Liston "have completely broken down," said Clay's manager, Bill Faversham. "That includes plans for 1964 as well as this year."

NEW YORK (AP)—A scheduled American Football League exhibition game between the Oakland Raiders and New York Jets at Mobile, Ala., Friday night has been switched to Oakland on Sunday because of a controversy over segregated seating.

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP) — One of traphooting's most coveted 16-year North American title, went up for decision today at the 64th Grand American.

a two-night doubleheader against New York today.

—The Indians had lost five straight in Yankee Stadium without a victory in 1963.

Magazine To Fight Verdict Given Butts in Libel Case

ATLANTA (AP)—The Saturday Evening Post plans to fight a $3,000 judgment awarded former University of Georgia football coach Wallace Butts by a federal jury which decided that the Post had ruined Butts' reputation.

It was one of the largest libel judgments ever rendered. Immediately after the jury reported on Tuesday, attorneys for the Curtis Publishing Co. said they will appeal.

The jury, composed of 12 men who never played football, heard 11 days of testimony and arguments regarding a March 23 Post story that said Butts gave inside information on the Georgia team to Alabama coach Paul (Bear) Bryant before the 1962 Georgia-Alabama game. Alabama won 35-0.

Much of the testimony, especially by football coaches and players, dealt with intricate football maneuvers and strategy.

Butts, who was athletic director at Georgia at the time of the game, sued for $10 million. He and Bryant have maintained their innocence of any attempt to rig the game.

The jury, after deliberating about eight hours, awarded Butts

$60,000 for general damage and $3 million for punitive purposes. The jury agreed with Butts' contention that there was malice in publication of the article.

The Post still faces a $10-million suit filed by Bryant. No trial date has been set.

After the verdict, Butts told a news conference: "I feel very humble and grateful, particularly to the people who have stood by me throughout this trial and the days which preceded it."

He said he hopes to return to coaching. Butts was a longtime coach at Georgia before being named athletic director in 1961.

The magazine article, written by Frank Graham Jr., said an Atlanta insurance salesman, George P. Burnett, overheard a telephone conversation between Butts and Bryant prior to the 1962 game.

Burnett was quoted as saying he was accidentally cut into the long-distance conversation and heard Butts giving game secrets to Bryant.

Butts, Bryant and other coaches, plus some Alabama and Georgia players, testified that no game secrets were disclosed and that information in notes allegedly made by Burnett during the conversation was of no consequence.

Johnny Griffith, who succeeded Butts as coach at Georgia, said, however, that the information could have had a bearing on the game.

Michigan State and Illinois have divided their six football games. They play this fall on Nov. 23.

Sting Is Gone From Giants' Latest Buzzing

Frisco Stumbles As Dodgers Boost Lead in NL Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Turns out that sound we heard last week wasn't the Los Angeles Dodgers pushing the panic button after all, just Al Dark with a harmless bee in his bonnet.

Since last Thursday, when Dark's defending champions from San Francisco had trimmed the Dodgers' National League lead to three games, all the sting has gone out of the Giants.

The front-running Dodgers, meanwhile, have reeled off six consecutive victories—the latest a 7-5 decision over second-place St. Louis that increased their lead to 6½ games.

Milwaukee handed the Giants their fourth straight setback, riding Lee Maye's three-run tie-breaking homer to a 6-1 victory at San Francisco. The loss dropped the Giants 7½ off the pace and one game in front of Philadelphia.

The Phillies, who split with the New York Mets, had their eighth-game winning streak snapped on a four-hit 4-0 shutout by rookie Grover Powell but took the second game of a two-nighter 2-1 in 12 innings to close up on the Giants.

Cincinnati's Joe Nuxhall posted his 100th NL victory in a 1-0 victory over Houston, and Pittsburgh defeated the Chicago Cubs 5-3.

The American League-leading New York Yankees were beaten by Cleveland 2-1, the Chicago White Sox walloped Boston 10-2, Detroit shut out Minnesota 6-0 and Kansas City swept a pair from Washington 9-0 and 7-5 in 14 innings. The Los Angeles Angels game at Baltimore was rained out.

The Dodgers trailed 4-2 going into the fourth, but a five-run fourth inning beat the Cardinals, who came into Los Angeles fresh from a three-game sweep of the Giants.

Bill White's error on a grounder by John Roseboro let Frank Howard and Willie Davis score with the tying runs. Singles by Maury Wills and Jim Gilliam then drove in the lead run and Ron Fairly hit a two-run single that put it out of reach. Bob Miller, 8-8, protected the edge with five innings of one-hit relief work.

Giants' starter Billy Pierce took a 1-0 lead into the seventh but consecutive singles by Gene Oliver, Joe Torre and Roy McMillan scored the tying run and brought on Bob Bolin. Bolin got two outs before Maye drove his homer over the left field fence. Bob Sadowski, 3-5, got the victory with Bob Shaw's three innings of scoreless relief. Pierce, 3-9, took the loss.

Legion Post Is Cited for Youth Services

In recognition of its outstanding service to the children and youth of Circleville, Hall - Adkins Post 134 of the American Legion has been cited by the national organization of the legion, Harold W. Hill, post commander, announced today.

Personally signed by James E. Powers, national commander, and Elmer Fuhrhop, Department of Ohio Child Welfare chairman, the citation from the national headquarters in Indianapolis was presented to Post No. 134 by Joseph S. Deuschle, Department of Ohio Adjutant.

Post Commander Hill gave much of the credit for the national award to Dudley G. Radcliff, who is child welfare chairman of the local post, and to all the committee members who worked with him.

Child welfare is one of the American Legion's basic programs, Commander Hill explained, "and we are proud that our efforts have been honored with this citation from the national organization".

Each of the more than 16,000 American Legion Posts is asked to submit an annual report of its programs and activities in behalf of children and youth. On the basis of its report for the 12-month period ending May 31, 1963, Hall-Adkins Post 134 here was awarded the national citation for outstanding service.

Among the activities and programs which earned this recognition for Post 134 were Buckeye Boy's State, Junior American Legion Baseball, Little League Baseball, fireman of the year trophy, Christmas party and playground equipment at the cost of $1,700 and countless hours of manpower.

Stock Market Is Irregular

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock market wheelwheers bided their time, edging off irregularly early this afternoon while trading activity was concentrated on a wide variety of secondary issues. Turnover was moderate for the list as a whole.

Most of the selected issues on which traders focused their attention moved higher and quite a few substantial blocks changed hands. Action was routine among the steels, oils, motors, rails, utilities and other groups which are weighty factors in determining movements of the averages.

Wall Street as a whole was still cautious.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .2 at 276.2, with industrials off .3, rails off .2 and utilities off .1.

Chrysler was firm, General Motors off a fraction and most other stocks unchanged to easy. Steels showed an irregular upside edge, with Republic and Jones & Laughlin adding fractions.

Municipal Court Collects $6,075 Here during July

Total fines, costs and bond forfeitures collected by the Circleville Municipal Court during July were $6,075.25.

A total of 226 criminal cases were filed in the court during July and 210 were completed.

The court also recorded 13 civil cases filed during the month. A total of 15 civil cases were completed.

The city of Circleville received a total of $3,772.65 of the monies disbursed. Pickaway County received $1,138 and the auditor of the state $1,095.30.

Other items totaled $69.30.

Court's Request For Money Leads To Council Debate

A major share of the controversy centered on two measures asking for the appropriation of funds for extra clerk hire and money for the purchase of furniture and equipment for the court. The extra clerk hire ordinance was for $600 and the furniture and equipment request amounted to $325.

An exchange of words developed when Municipal Judge Sterling M. Lamb voiced his comments on the money requests. Both ordinances were on the clerk's table at the Aug. 6 Council meeting, but were not introduced.

Judge Lamb, directing most of his verbal delivery toward finance committee head D. J. Carpenter, said if Council didn't want a Municipal Court, the legal body could easily be dissolved. He charged that the solons have repeatedly thwarted and delayed his attempts to obtain money for adequate court administrative help and necessary office equipment. He also asserted that "this is the last time he intends to come before Council for appropriations of any kind."

THE JUDGE prefaced his remarks by saying that it made no difference to him whether or not Council saw fit to continue the court function. However, he said his department must have the necessary equipment and help if operations are to continue.

Judge Lamb also referred to the more than $350,000 taken in by the court since its establishment in 1954, noting that his money plays an important part in meeting the city's financial burdens.

Carpenter, defending Council's present stand on the matter, denied that the solons have in the past refused all requests for purchase of equipment and appropriations for staff help. However, he questioned the court's purchase of $334.95 worth of equipment in April of this year without Council's appropriation of funds.

The finance committee chairman also questioned a pay raise granted by the judge to the court bailiff when money for the increase was not appropriated by Council. The judge replied that the law authorized him to set the bailiff's salary up to a certain amount.

ey for such moves have not been made available.

Later the councilman produced finance records listing court equipment purchases since 1960, amounting to $2,355.44, plus the $334.95 for the equipment for which funds were not appropriated.

A breakdown of equipment purchased in 1960 through 1962, according to the finance record, listed two desk lamps, three desks, two tables, one table cabinet, two posture chairs one junior executive chair, one chair, one stool and ladder, one counter stool, one bookcase, one set of bookshelves, six file cabinets, four electric typewriters, one photo copier, one electric heater and one air conditioner.

THE STATISTICS sheet noted that some of the equipment was purchased as used merchandise and that trade-ins were made on other items.

Following the heated discussion, Council passed the office equipment ordinance appropriating $325 with Carpenter and Councilman Robert Hedges casting negative votes in a 5-2 tabulation. The measure calling for $600 for extra clerk hire was approved by a 7-0 nod.

But it could not be determined immediately where Bova was in relation to the second lifeline.

"Lou, Lou!" yelled members of the drilling crew down the tiny opening over and over. Their voices echoed in the silence of the night as there was no response.

Then, from Fellin's side of the subterranean gallery, came word that he and Thorne had heard Bova's voice for the first time since Monday morning when Fellin reported that Bova apparently suffered a hip injury.

The word spread quickly. A crowd of 100 cheered the news.

Fellin, who had been yelling "Lou, Lou," since Monday morning in efforts to get a response said he talked to Bova twice but it was not clear what Bova said. Fellin reported Bova was weak and "I told him 'don't waste your energy'."

"If you hear me, rap on the roof," Fellin shouted to Bova. Bova tapped twice.

Later, Fellin shouted to Bova, "rap twice if you are bleeding, once if you are not." Fellin, a part owner of the mine, told authorities at the surface he heard one rap.

Fellin requested a pick. He reported he was filing a saw to aid in shoring so he could cross over to where Bova was located, estimated previously to be about 25 feet away. He said he was using old lumber down in the workings of the mine.

Ohio Singer Is Big Hit At Festival in Poland

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—American singer LuLu Porter of Hollywood, a former Youngstown, Ohio, girl, made a big hit at Poland's International Song Festival. She received such an enthusiastic audience response that the judges created a special "best liked singer" award for her.

LuLu, one of 35 contestants from 23 nations in the event at Sopot on the Baltic, didn't win an official prize. The first U. S. representative in the annual festival, she now is making a singing tour of Poland and will perform here Friday and Saturday.

37 Take Part in Five-Day Ashville Girl Scout Day Camp

The Girl Scout Day Camp for the Ashville Neighborhood Brownie and Girl Scout Troops was termed a huge success after coming to a close Friday afternoon, being in operation for one week in the Ashville Community Park.

Thirty-seven girls and 14 adults took part in the five-day camping session, starting at 9 a. m. each morning and ending at 3 p. m. each day. The girls were divided into four units and named the Wrens, Robins, Cardinals, and Blue Birds.

Starting off each morning one unit was responsible for the flag ceremony and one for group singing. Following, the girls went to their individual units where they worked together learning many new skills and adventures in the out-of-doors until 2:45 p. m. when all the girls and leaders met at the flag pole for closing-of-the-day ceremonies and retreat of the flag.

The youngest group attending were the Wrens under the guidance of Mrs. Gene Tosca and Mrs. James Irwin. Besides learning to cook two of their meals over an open fire, they were taught fishing and knot tying. For crafts they constructed a bug motel and worked on blue printing and spatter painting, using materials found at the park.

Girls in this unit were Debbie Irwin, Ruth Ann Rocky, Susie Custer, Cindy Waites, Laura Fox, Sally Tosca and Rhonda Wharton.

Another troop of Brownies attending were the Robins under the guidance of Mrs. Chester Peters and Mrs. Archie Stewart. They also prepared two meals out-of-doors and were taught the correct method of using and caring for a knife. They enjoyed a six-mile bike hike, eating their sack lunch in the country before returning and a nature scavenger hunt besides many other camping skills.

Girls in this unit were Karen Clifton, Susan Guthell, Debby Gloyd, Lisa Stewart, Judy Rife, Grace Engle, Karen Peters, Shirley Courtright and Paula Fox.

The largest unit attending was the Cardinals with 14 girls. These girls maintained perfect attendance all five days. Leaders for the girls were Mrs. Art Deal Jr., Mrs. Tom Purcell, Mrs. Lon Cromley and Mrs. Don Welsh.

The first day they divided into three patrols, selecting patrol leaders and patrol names. They were taught all the fundamentals of outdoor camping.

The girls also prepared two open fire meals over an open fire, learned folk dancing, built a terrarium and made tin can stoves which can be cooked on. On Wednesday the group took an all day nature hike.

Friday the girls brought their bicycles to camp where they were given books of safety rules for bicycle riders. On hand to talk with the girls and make a safety check on their bicycles was Ashville Marshal Glenn Clay. Following this the girls took a seven-mile bike ride and ate their sack lunch at Brown's Cabin.

Girls attending this unit were Barbara Edwards, Jody Deal, Sue Wolfe, Linda Noggle, Linda Accord, Debbie Flowers, Beverly Moody, Bonnie Peters, Jane Clay, Retha Gloyd, Margie Watson and Carla Hafey.

The oldest group of girls attending were the Blue Birds under the guidance of Mrs. Philip Roby. Mrs. William Snyder and Mrs. William Beach. These girls set up a complete camp and stayed overnight two nights and cooked a total of five meals. In addition they made plaster of paris molding and painting, using items found on the camp site. They also made a study of birds and weeds.

Girls in the unit were Cathy Brewer, Melanie Hedges, Cheryl Roby, Juanita Beach, Ceda Miller, Sally and Becky Hoffman.

Planning and heading the camp were Mrs. John Sabine, camp director, assisted by Mrs. James Hafey. Mrs. Nolo Gulick served as business manager.

On the last day, following the closing of camp, these women and leaders met for a complete evaluation meeting and to select two girls and leaders to attend All-Council Campers and Leader Evaluation Meetings to be held this week at Blendon Woods, Columbus.

Selected to represent the girls were Grace Engle and Ruth Wolfe. Leaders planning to attend are Mrs. Beach, Mrs. Peters, and Mrs. Roby.

Legion Post Is Cited for Youth Services

In recognition of its outstanding service to the children and youth of Circleville, Hall - Adkins Post 134 of the American Legion has been cited by the national organization of the legion, Harold W. Hill, post commander, announced today.

Personally signed by James E. Powers, national commander, and Elmer Fuhrhop, Department of Ohio Child Welfare chairman, the citation from the national headquarters in Indianapolis was presented to Post No. 134 by Joseph S. Deuschle, Department of Ohio Adjutant.

Post Commander Hill gave much of the credit for the national award to Dudley G. Radcliff, who is child welfare chairman of the local post, and to all the committee members who worked with him.

Child welfare is one of the American Legion's basic programs, Commander Hill explained, "and we are proud that our efforts have been honored with this citation from the national organization."

Each of the more than 16,000 American Legion Posts is asked to submit an annual report of its programs and activities in behalf of children and youth. On the basis of its report for the 12-month period ending May 31, 1963, Hall-Adkins Post 134 here was awarded the national citation for outstanding service.

Among the activities and programs which earned this recognition for Post 134 were Buckeye Boy's State, Junior American Legion Baseball, Little League Baseball, Fineman of the year trophy, Christmas party and playground equipment at the cost of $1,700 and countless hours of manpower.

Stock Market Is Irregular

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock market wheelhorses bided their time, edging off irregularly early this afternoon while trading activity was concentrated on a wide variety of secondary issues. Turnover was moderate for the list as a whole.

Most of the selected issues on which traders focused their attention moved higher and quite a few substantial blocks changed hands. Action was routine among the steels, oils, motors, rails, utilities and other groups which are weighty factors in determining movements of the averages.

Wall Street as a whole was still cautious.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .2 at 276.2, with industrials off .3, rails off .2 and utilities off .1. Chrysler was firm, General Motors off a fraction and most other stocks unchanged to easy. Steels showed an irregular upside edge, with Republic and Jones & Laughlin adding fractions.

Municipal Court Collects $6,075 Here during July

Total fines, costs and bond forfeitures collected by the Circleville Municipal Court during July were $6,075.25.

A total of 226 criminal cases were filed in the court during July and 210 were completed.

The court also recorded 13 civil cases filed during the month. A total of 15 civil cases were completed.

The city of Circleville received a total of $3,772.65 of the monies disbursed. Pickaway County received $1,138 and the auditor of the state $1,095.30.

Other items totaled $69.30.

Court's Request For Money Leads To Council Debate

The eventual passage of two money appropriation ordinances for Circleville Municipal Court was preceded by a brief but stormy debate last night in city Council.

A major share of the controversy centered on two measures asking for the appropriation of funds for extra clerk hire and money for the purchase of furniture and equipment for the court. The extra clerk hire ordinance was for $600 and the furniture and equipment request amounted to $325.

An exchange of words developed when Municipal Judge Sterling M. Lamb voiced his comments on the money requests. Both ordinances were on the clerk's table at the Aug. 6 Council meeting, but were not introduced.

Judge Lamb, directing most of his verbal delivery toward finance committee head D. J. Carpenter, said if Council didn't want a Municipal Court, the legal body could easily be dissolved. He charged that the solons have repeatedly thwarted and delayed his attempts to obtain money for adequate court administrative help and necessary office equipment. He also asserted that "this is the last time he intends to come before Council for appropriations of any kind."

THE JUDGE prefaced his remarks by saying that it made no difference to him whether or not Council saw fit to continue the court function. However, he said his department must have the necessary equipment and help if operations are to continue.

Judge Lamb also referred to the more than $350,000 taken in by the court since its establishment in 1954, noting that his money plays an important part in meeting the city's financial burdens.

Carpenter, defending Council's present stand on the matter, denied that the solons have in the past refused all requests for purchase of equipment and appropriations for staff help. However, he questioned the court's purchase of $334.95 worth of equipment in April of this year without Council's appropriation of funds.

The finance committee chairman also questioned a pay raise granted by the judge to the court bailiff when money for the increase was not appropriated by Council. The judge replied that the law authorized him to set the bailiff's salary up to a certain amount.

Carpenter countered that Council has taken a dim view of purchases and pay hikes when money for such moves have not been made available.

A breakdown of equipment purchased in 1960 through 1962, according to the finance record, listed two desk lamps, three desks, two tables, one table cabinet, two posture chairs, one junior executive chair, one chair, one stool and ladder, one counter stool, one bookcase, one set of bookshelves, six file cabinets, four electric typewriters, one photo copier, one electric heater and one air conditioner.

THE STATISTICS sheet noted that some of the equipment was purchased as used merchandise and that trade-ins were made on other items.

Following the heated discussion, Council passed the office equipment ordinance appropriating $325 with Carpenter and Councilman Robert Hedges casting negative votes in a 5-2 tabulation. The measure calling for $600 for extra clerk hire was approved by a 7-0 nod.
